

May seek injunction against absent GC teachers

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

An injunction may be sought from the Third Circuit Court in an effort to end massive teacher absences, Granite City School District officials said today.

With an insufficient number of teachers available today to conduct classes, students were sent home this morning. School is being postponed indefinitely as daily negotiations halt and the arena shifts to the Madison County Courthouse.

Local 743, American Federation of Teachers, is avoiding calling the absence a strike, instead leaving it up to each teacher whether to report.

No picketing was reported today, and non-teaching employees were at work. In a statement and counter-statement this week, the Federation said the school district has money available for raises and is offering less than the inflation rate. School officials said teachers' pay averages $21,900 and that the district has offered to raise this to $24,000 this fall and $26,300 next fall, despite heavy operating debt.

The 1981-82 term had been scheduled to start with teacher workshops Monday and initial classes for students Tuesday. However, only about 25 of the 590 teachers reported Monday, prompting classes to be called off Tuesday and Wednesday.

Today, all employees were instructed to work, and classes were scheduled for students.

Supt. B. J. Davis left it up to parents whether or not to send their children today, but warned there might not be a large enough staff present.

Negotiations on economic matters for a period of one or two years beginning July 1, 1981, took place Aug. 18, 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23, plus Monday evening from 8:30 to 11:30, briefly Tuesday night and yesterday from 12:30 to 3 p.m.

Local 743 members have been assembling nightly this week, and the Board of Education met Monday evening and then last night.

The teacher group pressed Monday that the two parties submit all disputed issues to advisory arbitration. The district the following night suggested mediation by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

A Local 743 spokesman responded that mediation would be a "waste of time."

Statements by the two sides were issued beginning Tuesday, following earlier adherence to a policy of drastically limiting their reports to the public while the negotiations continued.

A statement by the school district Tuesday morning related that "B. J. Davis, superintendent of Granite City Community Unit School District No. 9 of Madison County, announced the opening of schools will be further delayed until Thursday, Aug. 27."

"This decision resulted from the failure of all but a few teachers to report for the opening teachers meeting (Monday, Aug. 24)."

"While it is dictated that all employees report for work on Thursday to insure the safety, discipline and effective instruction of students, it is the individual decision of parents whether, or not, to send their children."

"Should the superintendent determine the staff is insufficient, he will immediately direct the students to return home, and parents should make plans for this possibility."

"Those students usually riding school buses will be returned by this same means. It is suggested that parents review with their children procedures to follow in this event."

"As necessary, daily announcements will be made by the superintendent and will be released through the press and Radio Station WGN, KMOX, KSD and KKOK."

"Provided there is sufficient staff present, the following student attendance schedule will be observed:

"Thursday, Aug. 27—All schools will open at their normal time. Students will be dismissed according to the following schedule:

"Senior high schools and Coolidge, 1 p.m.

"Crispberry and Prather junior highs, 12:30 p.m.

"All elementary schools, 12 noon."

American Federation of Teachers Local 743 issued the following statement Tuesday afternoon:

"The School Board (District No. 9) has indicated that it can only pay teachers a 7.9 percent raise in 1981. The teachers cannot live with that."

"The projected cost-of-living increase for 1981 is already 9 percent."

City council votes: no utility tax this year

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

It seems apparent that Granite City will not impose a utility tax this year, but will rely on a $500,000 increase in real estate taxes and on additional borrowing to get through this year, until a sales tax or other form of tax can be imposed.

That was the feeling of the Granite City Council Tuesday night as the aldermen voted 9 to 5 for a motion putting the council on record as opposing any utility tax this year.

Initially the aldermen agreed, they will urge State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) and other legislators to approve legislation giving home-rule cities, such as Granite City, the authority to impose a sales tax of about one percent, on all goods sold in the city.

A similar attempt by Chicago to impose a utility tax is tied up in the courts and a decision by the Illinois Supreme Court is expected by the end of this calendar year, the aldermen were told.

Discussion on the utility tax Tuesday night began when Mayor Paul Schuler asked the aldermen to study their financial reports carefully and warned, "Next Tuesday is Tax Day (Tax Day)," meaning that the aldermen would have to pass some form of new taxation by the Sept. 1 meeting to avoid the county clerk imposing a very high tax levy on Granite City residents for collection next summer.

Schuler noted that even with a one percent utility tax on electric bills in the city, the proposed levy which will have to be raised by taxation for the 1981-82 fiscal year will be $3 million, up $500,000 from the $2.5 million levied in the 1980-81 fiscal year, which now is being collected.

Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles

must be informed by the second Tuesday in September how much of the city's budget can be supported by other income so she can extend a tax rate which will support the remainder of the budget, City Clerk Robert W. Stevens told the aldermen.

Schuler said of the inevitable half-million dollar increase in local real estate taxes, "That will solve part of the problem, but it won't take care of all of the problem. I feel you (aldermen) should do some soul searching about the property tax."

The mayor warned against relying on the possibility of a sales tax, occupations tax or other tax to bale the city out of its current financial crisis, saying that the sales tax (Chicago's is "being tested in the courts. We can pass it, but we can't collect it."

He noted that Rep. Wolf believes he can pass authorizing legislation in the UNAUTHORIZED STRIKE? Workers at Michigan Metals have been striking this week in protest of the company's refusal to recognize the United Metalworkers International union as their bargaining agent. The workers have been represented for three years by Teamsters Local 525, but have split off from that union, attempting to form their own. Trucks driven by Teamsters crossed the picket lines, contending the strike is not authorized or recognized by the AFL-CIO.

Venice schools hike lunch costs, raise book rentals

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

A 20-cent across the board increase in school lunch prices for Venice District pupils was authorized Monday night's meeting of the board of education.

The board also set a maximum amount of $50 per family for textbook rentals and discussed the possibility of a cooperative education program with the Madison School District.

Cost of school lunches for pupils in kindergarten through third grade will be 70 cents and 75 cents for students in the fourth through eighth grades.

High school students will pay 85 cents each and pupils in all grades who are eligible for the reduced price lunches will pay 40 cents.

Approximately 65 percent of the student population is eligible for the reduced price or free lunches, it was noted.

A 50-cent increase in the meal prices for adults was approved, raising the cost from $1.15 to $1.65.

In recommending the price increases, Venice Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers said the cafeteria lost more than $4,000 in the 1980-81 school year.

"These prices still are lower than most school districts in the county, even with the increase," the administrator said.

He also noted there will be no state reimbursement for milk provided students after Oct. 1.

In answer to a question from Board Member Wilbert Glasper, the administrator said an average of 350 Venice pupils out of a 500 school population eat at the cafeteria each day.

Glasper suggested adding variation to the school menu, such as salads and grilled meats, to encourage more

Madison ok's teachers pact

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

The Madison Board of Education ratified Monday night a one-year contract with the American Federation of Teachers, Local 785, granting all certified teachers a nine percent raise which includes increments, by a split 4-2 vote.

Board members Billie Bosworth and Don Garrett voted against the contract, Richard Zeisler was absent.

Paul Bargiel, Sam Dymas, Frank Eaves and James Newsome voted for the new contract.

There were no changes in the fringe benefits over the last contract.

Negotiations with the custodians and other non-certified personnel are still in progress, however, a spokesman for the district said no problems are anticipated.

Teachers a nine percent pay raise. Last year it was a 16 percent pay raise. A total of 25 percent in just two years."

Garrett continued to comment on the poor level of teaching in the schools and that almost half of the graduating class of the high school can not read above a fourth-grade level.

Garrett went on with criticism of the teachers, "Teachers constantly complain about a lack of textbooks, poor classroom conditions, poor curriculum and many other problems. Yet, when presented with a fat pay raise, the dissent is quiet."

Metal workers strike; demand recognition

A hearing was held before a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) hearing officer Monday on a request by approximately 75 employees of Michigan Metals Processing Corp. for recognition as members of United Metalworkers International.

No decision is to be made by the hearing officer until after both sides have been given an opportunity to file written briefs.

Picket lines were taken down yesterday afternoon. Union officials were unavailable for comment and a company spokesman said he was forbidden from discussing the situation.

Michigan Metals, which occupies part of the former Commonwealth plant owned by Granite City Steel at 1425 State St., is opposing efforts by the employees to join the metalworkers, according to Norman Gitcho, president of the group. A company spokesman said he could not comment on the current labor controversy.

Pickets had been placed around the two entrances to the business earlier this week and Granite City police were called on Monday afternoon to assure that peace was kept at the plant-gates as students of a secretarial school, unrelated to Michigan Metals, were leaving their classes, being held in another building on the property.

The 75 employees seeking recognition by United Metalworkers formerly were represented for three years by Teamsters Local 525, but that union withdrew as their bargaining agent at the request of the members, Gitcho said.

Beginning teachers with bachelors degree start at $13,000, with a masters degree plus 30 hours toward a doctorate the starting salary is $14,950 under the new contract, compared to $12,500 with bachelors and $14,200 with a masters plus 30 under the 1980-81 contract.

The high for teachers with bachelors degrees and 15 years service is now $29,710 and the high for teachers having a masters plus 30 and 18 years service is $24,200.

Pretreatment needed now to prevent EPA action against city—McMillan

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Despite pleas from the superintendent of the Granite City primary-secondary treatment plant that the city move toward immediate implementation of an industrial pretreatment program and bill approximately 40 percent of the treatment plant's expenses directly to industry, the Granite City Council Tuesday night voted to refer the issue to committee.

Terrence McMillan, superintendent of the giant treatment facility, warned that the city currently is violating Illinois Environmental Protection Agency regulations "daily" by discharging some industrial wastes, which cannot be adequately treated, directly into the Mississippi River.

The EPA keeps a file on all such violations and "we're getting much too large. They could get a judgment against us at any time," McMillan warned.

16 candidates file for area school board posts

Nine persons are seeking three positions on the Granite City Board of Education.

Those running for a two-year term, requiring residence within the City of Granite City, are Dewey Melton, who is currently serving on the board, and Alan Crider. They will appear on the ballot on that order.

Also running for the two four-year positions are Julie Gates, who will appear next-to-last on the ballot, and Eric J. Gyaki, who will be listed last.

Filing of petitions began Aug. 17 and ended Monday. The final day for objections to be filed is Aug. 29, and the last day for candidates to withdraw is Sept. 9.

The board election is set for Nov. 3. In the Venice School District, three candidates, including two incumbents, have filed for three vacancies.

They are:

Education quality, effectiveness goals at Belleville Area College

Belleville Area College trustees launched the second phase of a cost savings and accountability plan when they adopted a mission statement this summer.

That statement says: "The mission of Belleville Area College is to provide a quality education at a reasonable cost to student and to community."

BAC President Bruce Wissore at last week's board meeting explained the statement, which was worked out by board members during a study session. "This is really Page 2 of the plan we embarked on last year," he said. "It will be a good look at what BAC is, and why we are here."

The mission will become part of a package of planning steps taken to make the college accountable to the community, Dr. Wissore said.

It will be included in a book that will contain statewide goals for community colleges in the 1980s, goals for BAC District 522 for the coming year, individual BAC administrators' plans for meeting those goals, and a 12-month administrative planning calendar.

All these materials will be available to the public throughout the year, Dr. Wissore said.

The mission statement establishes standards for determining quality of education and defines reasonable cost.

Quality will be measured by answering the following questions:

—Are credits transferable?

—Does BAC meet Illinois

Community College Board and Illinois Board of Higher Education standards?

—Does BAC receive North Central Association accreditation?

—Does BAC receive accreditation from other appropriate agencies?

—Are student statistics—including enrollment, retention rate and academic average—positive?

—What are the job placement rates of BAC graduates?

—What is the success of students after transfer to four-year colleges and universities?

—Is the community (employers) satisfied with the skills of BAC graduates?

Guidelines for spending college money are:

1—Every effort must be made to make the most efficient use of every tax dollar.

2—As long as the college can maintain a quality education, it should seek to avoid increasing its tax rates.

The mission statement also outlines how the college will provide a high degree of accountability.

Administrative and academic accountability will be required.

Open administrative systems, such as open budget hearings held during the past year, will allow maximum participation and awareness of all who are concerned, the statement said.

Accountability measures also will include active involvement of career advisory committees.

BAC will continue to provide baccalaureate transfer and career education programs, the statement related. It also said:

"The college must maintain its 'open door' policy providing an educational opportunity for everyone in the community."

"This necessarily means that a strong emphasis must be placed on developmental courses to aid those who may need improvement in basic skills in order to achieve their academic goals."

In other business, the board has been told the district will likely be reimbursed for $110,000 in veterans' scholarships for the spring of 1981, but that payment of future scholarships by the Illinois Veterans Service will probably be short.

Legislation pending in the state legislature would make money from next year's budget available to pay last year's IVS debts, BAC Financial Aids and Placement Director Lee Knoebel told the board.

Previously, BAC had been notified it would have to shoulder the expense of the spring 1981 scholarships because IVS funds ran out early, Knoebel added.

The college also will pay $22,893 toward Illinois state scholarships because that agency's funds also ran short.

The Illinois General Assembly failed to approve supplemental funding for the state scholarship commission.

BAC students who had received state scholarships had been billed up to $100 to make up the shortfall, Knoebel said.

"There's nothing to say this won't happen again," Knoebel said. He described the situation as "a bit of a Catch 22," saying the college must allow students with the veterans' and state scholarships to enroll.

BAC's burden could go as high as $165,000 in the coming year, he added.

Dr. Wissore said he believes the shortfalls in scholarship funding are a warning for the future.

"This is a sign that programs we thought there'd never be problems with are not being funded," the president commented. "For the first time, we face a good chance of a major state appropriation cut."

"All our thoughts about the '80s are starting to come very real. We have to be very conservative and ready to face these kind of problems."

The board also approved the Senior Companions I Grant, a $130,000 program which will provide in-home care to senior citizens in the southern portion of the college district.

Board Member Avery Schermer of Granite City moved for approval of the grant, saying:

"I think this will touch a lot of people. The thrust of this grant will be in the Sparta area, and I think this is an area where we need to do more."

The grant program will hire senior citizens to aid other elderly persons in routine household chores, such as laundry and shopping. Supporters of the program pointed out that it helps not only those who can't help themselves, but also those on limited incomes.

It also allows individuals to remain in their homes rather than seeking care in nursing homes, supporters said.

About $118,000 of the grant money will come from the federal government, with the remaining $13,000 provided by non-federal government agencies. The only cost to BAC will be in administrative and clerical staff.

The board delayed proposal to accept ownership of Hazel Creek Woods, a 36-acre forested area near Mascoutah, from the Illinois Nature Conservancy.

Further information will be sought as to the college's liability and restrictions in owning the land, which would have to be maintained as a natural area.

Board Attorney Norman Nold announced his resignation from the post effective at the time of the November board election.

"I have enjoyed all 11 years as the board's counsel but it's getting a little too much," Nold said.

Board Member John Becker of Sparta thanked Nold for his service.

In personnel matters, the board made seven appointments, including:

—Donna K. Schutte, nursing education instructor.

—Mary A. Brady, Director of Basic Education and Granite City Day Program.

—William P. Richards, aviation maintenance technology instructor.

—Robert J. Zahna, mathematics instructor.

—Pamela Daniel, coordinator and instructor in medical records technology; and Garnet A. Shorb, nursing education instructor.

Resignations were received from Lynne Hicks, secretary; Margaret A. Wotawa, nursing instructor; and Cathy Kon-dracki, registrar's clerk.

Wanda Stone, library technician, retired.

Helicopter aids in arrest of armed robbery suspect

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Victor Cameron Davis, 27, of 4 Eagle Park Road, is being held in the Madison County Jail on a $200,000 bond, charged with the armed robbery of the Kerr-McGee service station, 425 S. Cambridge Ave., Madison, at 10:45 a.m. Monday.

The capture involved the Madison County sheriff's department, railroad police from the Illinois Terminal Railroad, Chicago, and Northwestern Railroad, and Illinois Gulf Railroad agents and a private helicopter which joined in the man hunt.

Davis may face a possible further charge of attempted armed robbery if identified in a line up.

At 10:28 a.m. Monday, the manager of the Venice Bi-Rite grocery, 412 Broadway, went to the Venice Police station to report a man who just pointed a shotgun at him in the Bi-Rite parking lot in an attempt to rob him.

The store manager stated that when the man pointed the gun at him, he rolled up the windows of his car and locked the doors.

The robber fled. He was followed by the attempted robber to the Venice Police.

At 10:35 a.m., Madison police reported over the police radio system that an armed robbery had just occurred at the Kerr-McGee station, and a man, believed to be the armed robber, was headed south on Illinois Route 203 in a white over blue Oldsmobile with a spot on the trunk.

A railroad agent advised that he was on Bend Road and the suspect car did not pass him.

Venice Police Chief Farris Smith and Detective Bill Reed went to Eagle Park and checked the rear of 202 Watson St. where the suspect vehicle was located. When they noticed the car Reed saw a man known to him as Victor Davis, walking toward the car.

Davis was wearing the same clothing as described to Venice police by the Bi-Rite manager, according to Reed.

Davis saw the Venice of the Kerr-McGee station, and he was on the scene, asked for the canine unit from Madison County.

The area was sealed off. Chief Bridick requested a helicopter from Richard DuBry who runs a diesel engine repair shop in Calumet.

DuBry was able to locate the suspect and point out the location to police who then made the arrest.

Chief Bridick expressed appreciation from everyone who helped effect the arrest, and in particular to DuBry as a concerned citizen.

Reynolds Aluminum Recycling Co., which pays the public for keeping aluminum beverage cans off the streets and out of the solid waste stream, has expanded its collection hours in East St. Louis and Granite City.

The wholly-owned subsidiary of Reynolds Metals Co. will purchase aluminum cans and other clean household aluminum from the public five days a week at both cities.

In East St. Louis, the Reynolds plant will buy aluminum Tuesday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. until noon at the Shop City Red Fox, P.M. Store, 4601 S. State St.

In Granite City, Reynolds will purchase recyclable aluminum products at the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center at Namekiki and Pontoon Roads from 12:45 p.m. until 3:45 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

At both locations Reynolds is currently paying 23 cents a pound for all aluminum cans and other miscellaneous aluminum foil products such as pie plates, foil, frozen food and dinner trays and dip pudding and meat containers.

For recyclable products such as aluminum siding, gutters, storm door and window frames, Reynolds pays 20 cents a pound when the products are cut into lengths not exceeding three feet and bundled separately from the cans.

Aluminum castings, including pots and pans, power lawnmower housing and barbecue grills are also purchased and recycled by Reynolds at 15 cents a pound. Reynolds officials point out that prices are subject to change due to local market conditions.

During the month of August and up through Labor Day Reynolds is also contributing a penny per pound to the Muscular Dystrophy Association for all aluminum turned into the Reynolds collection centers nationwide.

Man robs gasoline station

A man wielding a silver-plated revolver obtained an undetermined amount of money in a robbery at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday at the Clark gasoline service station, 2005 Madison Ave.

As the manager, Terry Burch, was sitting at a desk in the station, a man wearing a nylon stocking over his face entered and placed the revolver against Burch's back, ordering him to "Give me your money."

The man fled after obtaining currency from a shirt pocket. He ran around the eastern end of the building toward an alley.

The robber was wearing a brown flannel shirt and blue trousers.

He was 23 to 26 years old, 5-11 to six feet tall, weighed 150 and had brown hair.

HOME IS RANSACKED.
A burglar ransacked bedrooms at the Allen Kelly residence, 3132 Ash Ave., Tuesday evening, apparently being frightened away when a relative arrived to check the home. The burglar gained entry by breaking a window and then knocking a hole in a wooden door.

Chouteau cuts tax levy

by DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

The Chouteau Town Board of Trustees approved levies totaling $202,100 Monday night which is $34,980 lower than last year's total of $237,080.

A breakdown in the Road District Levy shows $72,300 for the general road fund, $15,000 for equipment, $10,000 for IMRF and $52,000 for permanent road and advertise for bids in the use them to improve their $27,480.

Last year the general road fund was set at $92,500, equipment $15,000, IMRF at $8,000 and permanent road and bridge fund, $52,000, totaling $167,500.

In the Town Funds the levy this year was set at $40,200 for the general town fund and $6,000 in the general assistance fund, as compared to last year's levy of $39,000 in the general town fund and $12,000 in the general assistance fund for a $15,200 decrease over last year.

In other business, Walter "Dick" Sparks, led a discussion on installing sewers at the Town Hall and Highway garage, noting payment for the project is provided from the Revenant Sharning Fund. Village Clerk Pat Polley was instructed to advise for bids in the newspaper with bid opening set for the first meeting in October.

Sparks also announced the township has received replacement tax in the Road and Bridge Fund in the amount of $842 and Town Fund for $66 for a total of $1,503. A check in the amount of $748 for interest in the general assistance fund was received and the board also renewed a certificate for $15,894 that came due, Sparks added.

Board members approved the purchase of laminated cards for handing out to persons at a cost of $130 per hundred cards. Sparks explained the cards will be available at the Town Hall and those interested may complete an application and have his or her doctor sign they are in fact handicapped and are entitled to receive a card for use in the Metropolitan area.

The initial card will be free but if lost a fee will be charged for a duplicate, the board agreed.

The board also approved the reappointment of six township residents, who now serve as a Citizens Committee on the Community Development Board for a three-year term.

Due to the Labor Day holiday on Sept. 7, the board agreed to change the next meeting to Tuesday, Sept. 8.

Parents group formed by Menail Health Services

The Parent Training Initiative is a new program being provided by Mental Health Services, Southern Madison County, Inc.

The program is designed to work with parents who are experiencing stress in their lives. The intent of the program is to help these parents learn to make the most of their resources (money, food, clothing), and also learn new ways of dealing with their children.

With a grant provided by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, individuals are able to focus on their strengths and use them to improve their family life.

The Parent Training Initiative is a form of "therapy" or "counseling." It is a program by which qualified personnel help individuals find ways of getting "closer" to their children and are able to resolve the kind of conflicts families may have.

By attending Parent Training Initiative classes at Mental Health Services, people are able to interact with other individuals who may have similar kinds of problems, and by working together can help resolve these problems.

Mental Health Services is a private, not-for-profit organization that serves all residents in the southern half of Madison County. Services at the Mental Health Center also include: work adjustment training and community outreach, with satellite services at 508 Broadway in Highland, and 115 South Main St. in Edwardsville.

For more information about Mental Health Services in Highland persons may call (624-7252) in Edwardsville (656-8721), or contact Janice Mayberry, 2024 State St., Granite City, (618) 977-4420.

Nov. 15 deadline to tap onto new sewers

Residents of special service area number one whose property lines are within 200 feet of new sanitary sewers in Namekiki, Chouteau or Venice Township, have until Nov. 15 to tap their home sewers into the new county line on face prosecution by the Madison County state's attorney's office.

Legal notices have been filed in the Press-Record since Aug. 13, announcing that the mandatory 90-day notice to tap-on has been issued, and residents who have a property line within 200 feet of a new county sewer line must tap-on by Nov. 15.

According to Gene Futch, superintendent of the sewer district, those who fail to comply with the regulation will have their names turned over to Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith for legal action.

Futch said he has talked to Smith about what actions will be taken against those who do not tap on by the deadline and Smith "hasn't decided what to do yet."

according to Futch.

The enabling ordinance which set up the sewer district and which defined its powers called for a public 90-day notice when the new sewers were completed, setting a date by which all nearby residents must be connected to the new sewers.

Announcement that the 90-day notice has been issued has caused "quite a bit of talk and action," Futch said. He estimated that his office is issuing an average of 15 tap-on permits per day, more than twice the number being issued before the 90-day notice was issued.

EASIER TO GET INTO COLLEGE.
Milton Suss of Mark V. Construction Co. finishes the job of breaking up the paving 10 years of winter snow and salt started on the front entrance walk of Rendleman Building (administration) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Under an $18,000 contract, the company will replace the surface from the doorway to the curb with new concrete to make it easier to "get into" the University.

Hildebrand on state panel for neighborhood justice centers

A committee to promote the establishment of neighborhood justice centers has been appointed by Illinois State Bar Association President Michel A. Coccia of Chicago.

The Special Committee on Arbitration of Disputes is made up of 13 members, both attorneys and lay people, from around the state, including Thomas E. Hildebrand Jr. of Granite City.

Purpose of the committee will be to oversee implementation of the neighborhood justice idea. The neighborhood justice system calls for arbitration of certain minor disputes to be handled outside the courtroom.

The parties in conflict meet on a voluntary basis and submit their dispute to a third party, who is not necessarily a member of the judiciary. Arbitrators could be university professors or graduate students in such areas as sociology or psychology.

Claims that could come before the neighborhood justice system are such legal problems as minor neighborhood disputes, consumer complaints, simple battery, certain misdemeanors and minor "fender bender" traffic accidents cases.

A hearing is held at a time convenient for all parties, usually at night so as not to interfere with work hours. The hearing is held in a conciliatory atmosphere with no strict rules of evidence or rigid cross-examination by attorneys.

"We have no desire to prevent anyone who wants to take a rightful cause to a court of law from doing so," Coccia said. "Still, there are some minor disputes that do not require the attention of the court and the cost of legal fees for both parties.

"It is these matters, in which the complainant is often seeking only to prove a principle, that could be resolved fairly and amicably in a neighborhood justice center."

The neighborhood justice concept was endorsed last year by former ISBA President Robert G. Heckenkamp of Springfield. Heckenkamp explained: "In most cases, it is not to award a recovery of damages, but to remedy the situation."

"The goal is to get to the root of the problem and attempt to solve it in a friendly atmosphere, so that the parties depart arm in arm."

State Bar President Coccia appointed the following members to the committee: James R. Quinn, David F. Sterling and John Reidy, all of Chicago; Richard W. Zuckerman of Peoria; Maurice Begliovsky of Joliet; Robert M. Holman of Waukegan; Edward W. Brankey of Matteson; James P. Fox of Springfield; Thomas E. Hildebrand Jr. of Granite City; Bruce Ross-Shannon of Rockford; Mary Lou Rouhandeh of Carbondale; Alan Rudd of Bloomington and Darrel K. Seigler of Ottawa.

Mental Health Services plans annual meeting

Evelyn Leeper, president of the board of directors for Mental Health Services, Southern Madison County, Inc., has announced that the agency's annual meeting will be held on Sept. 10, beginning at 5:15 p.m. at the agency's Granite City offices, 2024 State St.

The agenda for the meeting will begin with a welcome, followed by the introduction of board members, the introduction of staff members, a meeting concerning general agency business, special recognition to those board and staff members who have dedicated many years of service to the agency, and closing remarks.

Refreshments will be served afterwards, and the meeting is open to the public. Mental Health Services is a private, not-for-profit organization that serves all residents in the southern half of Madison County. Services at the Mental Health Center also include: work adjustment training and community outreach, with satellite services at 508 Broadway in Highland, and 115 South Main St. in Edwardsville. Mayors proclaim Union Label Week

The mayors of Granite City, Madison and Venice have signed proclamations declaring the week of Sept. 7 to 13 as Union Label Week and have asked citizens of the area to support the products and services identified by the union label.

Union Label Week will start with a Labor Day parade on Sept. 7. Final preparations for the parade are now being made by a committee of the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council, and are to be announced as they progress.

The proclamations were signed by Mayor Paul Schuler of Granite City, Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison and Mayor Tyrone Echols of Venice.

The proclamations, all identical, said:

"Whereas, Nineteen eighty-one marks the centennial of the American labor movement; and

Whereas, Organized labor has always endeavored to maintain and improve good working conditions and wage standards for American workers; and

Whereas, Labor's distinctive emblems of quality craftsmanship and service are Union Labels, Shop Cards, Store Cards and Service Buttons; and

Whereas, The Union Label and Service Trades Department, AFL-CIO each year sponsors Union Label Week to salute these hallmarks that are uniquely American.

Now, therefore, be it known that (signed by the three mayors) do hereby proclaim the week of Sept. 7 through 13, 1981, as Union Label Week and call upon all citizens to support the products and services identified by the Union Label, Shop Card, Store Card and Service Button.

Specialized living parents plan auction and carnival

A public auction and carnival, with proceeds to be used for the benefit of the residents of the "Specialized Living Center" for severely and profoundly mentally retarded, will be held on Saturday, Sept. 26, at the Specialized Living Center, 4500 Caseyville Ave., Swansea, (about 3 miles from St. Clair Square - off St. 159).

There are residents from the Quad-City area at this facility.

Both events are being sponsored by the Parents' group of the "Specialized Living Center." The carnival will start at 10, the auction at 11. Lunch will be served from 12 to 12:45 ($1.00 for hot dog, baked beans, potato salad, dessert, and soft drink).

The auction will resume at 12:30.

Specialized Living Center serves 34 counties in Illinois, including the Quad-City area, and the parents group is inviting everyone to attend.

A spokesman for the group said they need things donated for the auction, (new or used), in good condition (no clothes, please). Anyone living in Granite City wishing to donate may call 931-3800, if in Madison or Venice, call 877-0663, to arrange for pick up of the donation.

Quite a few new items have been donated, suitable for both young and old, and the parents' group suggests that this will be a good time to shop early, but they still need many things donated to make the auction a success.

Third son for Wm. E. Donohues

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Donohue, 2525 E. 23rd St., became the parents of their third child, a son, born Aug. 15 at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

The infant weighed seven pounds, 13 1/2 ounces and has been named Nathan Wayne. He has two brothers, Jason Scott, 3 years, and Keith William, 18 months.

The mother is the former Anita McGee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myer McGee of Granite City.

Paternal grandparents are Mrs. Bertha Donohue of Granite City and the late William L. Donohue.

Motorists may indicate wish to become organ donor on drivers license

Governor James R. Thompson has signed legislation allowing motorists to indicate on the back of their drivers licenses if they wish to become an organ donor.

"There are many people who have serious diseases that require an organ transplant but have to wait for an organ to become available," the governor said. "This bill will allow medical authorities to quickly determine whether someone who has recently died wished to give parts of his or her body as anatomical gifts, thereby speeding the process of organ transplants and possibly saving many lives." House Bill 2 authorized the secretary of state to provide an area on the back of the license for the motorist to list which body parts may be used. There also must be enough space on the back for the signature of the donor and two witnesses.

The bill also provides that the secretary of state will include information explaining the organ donor program with each license renewal application that he distributes.

The measure was sponsored by Representative Harold Katz, Glenview, and Senator William Marovitz, Chicago.

Two fires Wednesday

The Madison fire department answered two calls Wednesday.

At 4:17 a.m., they were called to 2015 Hildebrand St., in the Cloverleaf Addition, where a frame house was on fire.

The house is owned by Tommy Taylor and was in the process of being torn down.

Firemen answered the call with one pumper and ten men.

At 6:40 a.m., the fire department went to 121 Greiner Homes to extinguish two curtains.

Fire damage was estimated at $200.

The apartment is being rented by James Duckett.

Briggs holds workshop on computers

The Regional Superintendent of Schools, Harold E. Briggs, sponsored a workshop on computers which seven local teachers learned to use computers.

The workshop helped with curriculum development for alternative schools. Seven teachers from six different schools participated in the ten days of activities at East Alton-Wood River High School.

Under the leadership of Dr. Robert Fizzell of Western Illinois University, the teachers learned to use the computer to build resource files for learning activities. After agreeing upon a set of goals for high school graduates, they began writing activities to help students reach these goals. The materials they have prepared will be shared by the teachers who participated and will also be available to other schools through Superintendent Briggs' office.

Raymond Dragich, assistant to Briggs, was active in arranging and overseeing the project. He noted that the computer is opening many new opportunities for improving education, and that this project is especially exciting because the teachers will be able to combine their own resource file as long as they wish.

Other teachers or school officials who are interested in these materials should contact Harold E. Briggs at 678-692-4330.

3 juveniles are found in drugged state

Three juveniles were taken to St. Louis County Medical Center by police after they were found in drugged states at an apartment in the new block of Kirkpatrick Homes at 6 p.m. Monday.

The mother of a 15-year-old girl said she returned home to find her son, a young girl and another juvenile boy in the house in semi-conscious states. Her son had some valium and other pills in his possession, she said.

The girl could hardly speak and police took her immediately to the medical center, where she was admitted for an overdose. Authorities said she was found to be a runaway from the Edgewood Children's Center in St. Louis County and arrangements were made to transfer her to a St. Louis County hospital for treatment under the supervision of Missouri juvenile authorities.

The 15-year-old was on probation for burglary, so she was held until his probation officer can be contacted. He and the other boy became increasingly drowsy while police were talking to them, so both were taken to the medical center. The other boy was found to have several bottles of pills in his possession, including valium.

His parents arrived at the apartment where the three teens were found and alleged that he had stolen all of their prescription medication. They said he had run away from home and they could not control him and asked police to retain custody of him.

At the medical center, authorities identified the medicines the youths had taken as codeine aspirin, sleeping pills, valium, a muscle relaxer, arthritis medication and water pills. The boys also said that they had taken crystal amphetamines and black beauties, but had flushed them down the toilet when the 15-year-old's mother arrived home.

Both boys were admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of drug overdoses.

Venice housing complex ready for use by Dec. 1

The new Bissell Apartments in Venice will be open for residents Dec. 1. The Venice city council was informed at their meeting Tuesday night.

Karen Wiggins, the manager of the housing development, addressed the council.

The apartment are located at Bissell and Klein, and there are 92 units, 24 three-bedroom townhouse units for families of between four and six members, and 68 two-bedroom garden apartments.

It was noted at the meeting that this is a private housing complex, following the U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) guidelines on qualifications for renting and regulations once the apartment is rented.

The city has no control on who can or can not rent these apartments, or if renters are evicted the council or mayor have no say should a tenant violate any of the rules and guidelines.

Persons wishing information and applications may contact Manager Wiggins at 451-7902 or 451-7903.

The location of the leasing office for applications is at the Venice city hall, halfway and Main streets, for the immediate future.

The manager Karen E. Wiggins is the daughter of Mrs. B. J. Davis (Shirley) Wiggins, 173 Viola Jones Homes, Madison. She is a graduate of Madison High School, and received a bachelors degree in business administration from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The apartment complex is in a Neo-Colonial style.

Mayor Echols initiated the apartment proposal in the summer of 1976, on a parcel of land that was donated by the John Mansville Corporation.

Due to sustained efforts of Mayor Echols and the council, and the developers HUD finally approved the project in April 1981, at which time construction began.

The following income limits are set forth by HUD: two member family $13,800, up to a six member family the income limit is $19,450.

Eligible families must have incomes within the HUD specified limits and pay no more than 25 percent of their gross income for the project in April 1981, at which time construction began.

"There is no audit available for 1980-81 expenditures.

"The board's own financial documents for 1981 show that the district is in better financial condition now than it was in 1979-80 when it paid teachers raises of $1,325.37."

"When the board misstated the number of teachers it was hiring, the teachers had to sue to obtain money from the Madison County court ruled in favor of the teachers.

"Now, the board is offering teachers $300,000 less in raises than in 1979-80. Teachers cannot understand this.

"To break the present negotiation deadlock, teachers have offered to submit all issues of this dispute to advisory arbitration, so that an independent judgment can be made as to whether the board is being fair."

"The Teachers' Federation statement concluded:

"Although the work stoppage was not called a strike, the absence of all but about 25 teachers at Monday's workshop was cited by the school administration as the reason for cancellation of a half-day of classes for students Tuesday.

"The half-day was rescheduled for Wednesday by that action, and then was changed to today after the board held a special meeting Monday night.

"A brief workshop did take place Monday morning, with a speaker from Chicago addressing the small gathering on 'Human Rights.'

"The board for 1981-82 is offering $24,900 for the average teacher, which is $132 a day or $18.86 an hour."

"The Federation of Teachers is asking in 1981-82 for $25,000, which is $137 a day or $19.57 an hour."

"The board has offered for the 1982-83 year an average salary of $26,300."

"In addition to the salary offers, the board has offered fringe benefits, and beyond what the teachers presently receive."

A spokesman said no further negotiations are currently scheduled and the School Board is not due to meet again until next Tuesday, Sept. 1.

He added, "We already project a deficit budget for 1981-82, and whatever raises are granted will add to that deficit and to further borrowing or increased taxation."

"The board has approved approximately $750,000 of expenditures over revenue for the year just ended, the request by the teachers for 1981-82 would add at least $249,000 to the $750,000 deficit, an accrual deficit on June 30, 1981."

A Federation spokesman said Wednesday the teachers have asked for a 10 percent raise and have been offered 7.5 percent.

A school official said such figures apparently do not include the 1.7 percent cost of health (increased) raises for all faculty members except those with 14 or more years of service.

In last night's statement by the school district, it was stated that instead of "offering teachers $300,000 less in raises than in 1979-80 (raises for 1979-80 of $1,325.37)," as contended by Local 743, no one is being offered less money and the 590 provided for 1981-82 employment have been offered raises aggregating $1,243,500 despite a small deficit when conducting an audit.

The 590 staff was compared in the district statement to a faculty of 617 in 1980-81 and a larger total in the present year.

Faculty reductions have been occurring annually due to enrollment declines, school closings, curriculum consolidations and the financial problems stemming from tax rates having reached their authorized maximums, compounded by uncertain federal and state funding.

The school district's statement went on to state that with a supposed pattern of yearly overstatement of probable expenditures and annual understatement of expected revenue.

A spokesman said budget estimates and that they form the ceiling for spending in a particular category, not necessarily the exact amount that will be spent.

"When the board misstated the number of teachers it was hiring, the teachers had to sue to obtain money from the Madison County court ruled in favor of the teachers."

"Now, the board is offering teachers $300,000 less in raises than in 1979-80. Teachers cannot understand this."

"To break the present negotiation deadlock, teachers have offered to submit all issues of this dispute to advisory arbitration, so that an independent judgment can be made as to whether the board is being fair."

"The Teachers' Federation statement concluded:

"Although the work stoppage was not called a strike, the absence of all but about 25 teachers at Monday's workshop was cited by the school administration as the reason for cancellation of a half-day of classes for students Tuesday."

"The half-day was rescheduled for Wednesday by that action, and then was changed to today after the board held a special meeting Monday night."

letter to McDaniel follows:

"I am writing this letter to you in order to clarify the meaning of certain wording that is used in our monthly compilation report (cover letter) to the district."

"The Accounting Review Services Committee of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) issued Statement of Standards for Accounting and Review Services No. 1 which became effective for services rendered by certified public accountants for periods ending on or after July 1, 1979."

This statement says that an accountant's report must accompany each set of financial statements they assist in preparing. Currently, we issue a report known as a compilation report."

"A compilation report, by definition of the AICPA, is the presentation—in the form of financial statements (district's monthly report)—of information that is the representation of the district (administration and/or Board of Education) without undertaking to express any assurance on the statements."

"What this actually means is that our accountants prepare the district's financial statements from the accounting records maintained by the district."

"In some instances, compiling financial statements may entail additional work other than just preparing the financial statements."

"It may include but not be limited to reconciling bank accounts, posting and summarizing subsidiary ledgers, and other such tasks."

"In performing a compilation, we do not perform other procedures to verify, corroborate or review the information supplied by the district as we normally would when conducting an audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards."

"We are merely acting as a preparer of financial statements for the district."

"Because we have not verified or corroborated the financial information, we cannot express an opinion or give any form of assurance on the information."

"As an addition to the basic financial statements, generally accepted accounting principles require that adequate and informative disclosure of material matters should be presented in the financial statements."

"These matters relate to the form, arrangement and content of the financial statements including, for example, the presentation of items in the accompanying statements, information concerning pending litigation."

"These disclosures (notes) are always presented in the district's annual financial statements."

"However, they have been presented in the monthly reports."

"It has generally been acknowledged that the financial statements and the related informative disclosures (notes to financial statements) are the representations of the entity involved and not those of the preparer in preparing and/or auditing the financial statements."

"Therefore, it must be disclosed in our compilation report (cover letter) that the district has chosen not to have all of the informative disclosures presented."

"We are not, however, implying that the district (administration and/or Board of Education) is attempting to 'hide' any pertinent information, but we are merely alerting the readers of the financial statements to the fact that the informative disclosures have been omitted."

"The obvious reason for this omission is that the additional cost involved to gather the necessary information for inclusion in the monthly reports would exceed the benefit."

October session for home-rule cities to impose sales taxes, but the pending court case will still keep the tax from being collected."

"The city's occupation tax, the mayor said, the state reserves the right to limit collection of an occupation tax on itself," and predicted that legislation to authorize cities to collect such a tax would be difficult to pass in the state legislature."

Alderman Jack Varadani of the Fifth Ward said he was among those who visited officials in Springfield recently and was told that if the Supreme Court decides the Chicago case in favor of the cities, which is expected by the end of the year, "we would not need state permission to impose a sales tax."

City Attorney John Papa agreed, but added, "We still would need the cooperation of the state to collect and distribute the tax and that would still need the authorization of the state legislature."

Schuler said that even if the sales tax is declared legal by the end of this calendar year, necessary legislation would not be passed immediately and the tax would not be in effect until at least three months later. "We're going to be out of the whole fiscal year before we see a cent of the tax," he said.

Schuler urged the aldermen to consider a one percent tax on electric bills in the city, stating, "We have looked into every possible way available to us to raise the money to sell the city out of the debt that it is in and the only way I repeat—the only way, is a utility tax."

Pinball discussion awakens sleeping license ordinance

By GARY SCHNEIDER of the Press-Record

If the playing of pinball machines in the city cannot be regulated properly, at least the machines may be able to generate additional income for the Granite City government, the city's aldermen indicated Tuesday night.

Earlier this summer, the council passed an ordinance prohibiting young persons under the age of 18 from playing pinball machines or coin-operated video games and giving the city council the right to grant or reject a license for any gaming establishment.

Since that ordinance was adopted, the 18-year-old age limit for playing the games has been ignored, as anyone who has been in a pizza parlor, doughnut shop, dime store or one of the numerous other establishments which have such games can testify.

Police records have not shown an arrest of a person under the age of 18 for playing a pinball machine or coin-operated video game.

Licenses for such businesses, however, have been carefully controlled and two such requests for licenses to run game establishments have been rejected, while one was approved.

Tuesday night, City

Engineer Monroe Brewer was asked what city officials are responsible for enforcing the city's ordinance regulating pinball machines and video games and Brewer said that City Inspector Emerald Dawes is responsible for determining that all machines and establishments are properly licensed.

Asked who is responsible for keeping youths under the age of 18 from playing the games, Brewer said he guessed the police department was. Lt. Col. George Teller of the police department agreed that enforcement of the age limitation is the job of the police department.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward suggested that the city does not receive enough of the revenue generated by the games and said they must be profitable, since so many establishments now have video games and pinball machines. "I think the city should get its fair share of it," Whitmer said in suggesting that the license fees for such machines and for establishments housing such machines be raised.

Alderman Everett Morlen of the First Ward said he feels game distributors should have to purchase a $1,000 license and the machines should carry $25 or $30 city licenses each.

Mayor Paul Schuler said quietly that he would support $50 per machine licenses, but hinted that the fees should be included in the overall city license ordinance, which has been under consideration by the council for about one year.

"What ever happened to the license ordinance?" Schuler asked. The question was met with silence from most of the aldermen, who voted 9-1 to approve a new license ordinance in March, 1980, but only to have it vetoed by the mayor when it was discovered that the ordinance included city licenses for newspaper reporters, fund-raising organizations, nursing homes, entertainers, nurses, fraternal organizations and about 670 other businesses and occupations.

The ordinance, which had been prepared by Dawes and a secretary going through the Crawford Agency to identify each type of business and occupation, was revised to remove multiple licenses for businesses and to halt efforts to license most professionals, including newspaper reporters.

Additional objections poured in from the business community to new licenses, higher fees and multiple licenses for contractors and it was referred by the council May 12, 1980, to its Ordinance Committee for extensive revisions.

The council then got bogged down with preparation of the 1980-81 budget, renewing the garbage collection contract and attempting to initiate a new low-interest home mortgage loan bond issue. The licensing ordinance never came up again, until Tuesday night, 15 months after it was sent back to committee for alterations.

Public hearings set on tax agency levies

A new Illinois law which requires taxing agencies to conduct public hearings on new tax levies which are 5 percent or more in excess of last year's levies will result in a series of public hearings within the next week.

As a result of increasing tax levies, a public hearing is to be conducted by Nameoki Township at 7 p.m. Monday. The hearing will be held in the Nameoki Township Hall, 4250 Highway 62.

Both Granite City and Venice are scheduled to hold public hearings Sept. 1, in their respective cities.

Close 22nd St. crossing next week for repairs

The Granite City Council agreed Tuesday night to allow the railroad to close

SIUE radio to carry Labor Day program

WSIE-FM (88.7), the public service radio station at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will broadcast the Labor Day weekend festivities of the Chicago Jazz Festival live from Grant Park on the lakefront, beginning Friday, Sept. 4, and continuing through Sunday, Sept. 6 from 6:30 until 11:30 p.m. nightly.

Listeners will be treated to a full spectrum of local and internationally recognized jazz artists, including Ella Fitzgerald, Count Basie, Clark Terry, Helen Humes, Louie Belson, and Jimmy Smith.

The kick-off to the holiday celebrations will be a tribute to Duke Ellington. A long-standing summer-time tradition in Chicago, the tribute will feature musicians playing Ellington's music in new styles, and an impressive array of Ellington contemporaries.

Included in the tribute will be Ella Fitzgerald, accompanied by a trio led by pianist Jimmy Rowles, young Chicago trumpeter Art Davis and his quintet, avant-garde saxophonist Archie Shepp and his quintet, and the trumpet of Clark Terry and the drums of Louie Belson combining with Chicago's 17-piece ensemble, the Jazz Members Big Band.

The second evening of the festival will be of special interest to the music lover, ranging from the rocking small blues band of the '30s and '40s and the organized, hard-blowing combos of the '60s, to the traditional jazz dance band through hard bop to avant-garde trio explorations.

Jazz Alive will conclude its coverage of the Third Annual Chicago Jazz Festival with an evening devoted to the local musical history of Count Basie, featuring among others, the swingmaster himself.

2 charged with taking gasoline

Ricky L. Nesbit, 19, and Robert E. Borden, 19, who were both staying at 1716 Cleveland Blvd., were arrested at that address at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday and were charged with theft for allegedly siphoning gasoline from a parked truck in the R. Dwyer Electric lot, the 1700 block between Cleveland Boulevard and Delmar Avenue minutes earlier.

An officer on patrol alleged seeing the "two walking in that block and carrying a three-gallon plastic bucket. They fled when they saw the police car, so the officer searched the neighborhood and found the bucket, which was full of gasoline, beside 1716 Cleveland Blvd.

The occupants were questioned and Nesbit and Borden allegedly admitted siphoning the gas from a Dyon truck.

Committee to consider giving street to dairy

A special committee of the Fourth and Fifth Ward aldermen of Granite City has been appointed by Mayor Paul Schuler to study a request by Prairie Farms Dairy that Adams Street at the 19th Street overpass approach be vacated by the city and donated to the dairy.

In a letter to the council read Tuesday night, the dairy noted that it had cooperated with the city in constructing the overpass, even though it meant closing the main entrance to the dairy and interfering with parking, the garage entrance and drainage for the dairy's property.

The changes have caused increased operating costs for the business, as well as inconveniences, the letter said.

It asked the city council to consider vacating Adams Street from Niedringhaus Avenue to 19th Street, which is no longer used by anyone but the dairy, which owns the property on both sides of the street.

That would alleviate the city from having to maintain that block, which is used by the dairy's heavy trucks, the letter stated.

Mayor Paul Schuler said he thought it would be a good idea to vacate the street and give it to the dairy, particularly since "they did give us a lot of cooperation in building the overpass."

However, since there are two major sewer lines under the street and easements would be required so the city could maintain those sewers, the council decided to form a committee of the Fourth and Fifth Ward aldermen and have them make a recommendation to the council on the Prairie Farms request.

Aldermen who will serve on that special committee are Warren Decatur and Sharon Perjak of the Fourth Ward and Margaret Nom and Jake Varadian of the Fifth Ward.

In other business, the council considered the sale of a 20-foot wide corner lot of the city owned at 2100 Nevada St., in West Granite.

A request by an adjoining neighbor to purchase the property brought the matter before the council for a second time and Alderman Jake Varadian of the Fifth Ward said he believed the city could raise some funds by selling at least a 10-foot strip of the property to the neighbor.

He said he had talked to City Engineer Monroe Brewer and had been told that if the city should decide to widen Rock Road at some time in the future, only about 10 feet of the property would be needed for the project.

Varadian said that if specifications could be drawn for sale of the property with the stipulation that a bid package to sell the Rock Road widening would be donated free back to the city, if needed, that he felt it should be sold.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward said he feels the property should be appraised and the city then should seek bids for at least the appraised value to sell the lot.

Mayor Schuler suggested that Varadian meet with City Attorney John Papa to discuss the proper wording for a bid package to sell the property while reserving the 10-foot strip for possible future expansion of Rock Road and then bring the package before the council again for approval.

New zoning plan to GC Council next week

A new zoning ordinance and map for Granite City are expected to be presented to the city council Tuesday night for study.

It will be the first official presentation of the proposed zoning ordinance to the council following its drafting by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission and public hearings on the documents by the Granite City Planning Commission.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer said he does not expect the council to give final passage to the zoning ordinance upon its presentation Tuesday night, due to several controversial portions of the ordinance, but he feels the council should put it on final reading and "get it into the works."

The proposed zoning ordinance expands the number and types of zoning categories for businesses and industrial areas and allows for "planned unit developments," which combine areas of residential, business and industrial into predesigned tracts, which can be approved by the city council, without meeting all of the specifications of the various zoning categories for each structure.

The ordinance also calls for designation of a zoning administrator who is to enforce the zoning ordinance and may call for unspecified fees and inspections to enforce the ordinance.

The zoning map has drawn the greatest amount of dissent, primarily from realtors who believe that Nameoki Road, Madison Avenue and parts of Johnson and Ponton roads should be rezoned for commercial use, rather than continuing the current practice of "spot rezoning" for each business.

According to Ray Kaegel, president of the Granite City Board of Realtors, the current zoning law requires a zoning battle for each business which wants to open along these four areas, which are rapidly becoming commercial in nature, and the proposed zoning map offers no help to alleviating such zoning battles in the future.

At the Plan Commission's meeting two weeks ago, the subject of commercial zoning was again discussed by the commission members and several realtors. In a report read to the council Tuesday night from the Plan Commission, the commission members feel that the realtors want to future of Madison Avenue and Nameoki, Ponton and Johnson roads, but feel it entirely, without meeting all of the specifications of the various zoning categories for each structure.

The board received a proposal for raising the fees for building permits and for electrical, plumbing and heating inspections.

Brewer told the council Tuesday night that the current fees do not come

Legislation would give tax break to Illinois businesses

Governor James R. Thompson has approved legislation that provides a tax credit to firms that invest in Illinois.

"Illinois' business climate is good," Thompson said. "And we're going to make it even better with this bill. This will encourage businesses to invest in Illinois. It not only will help these firms but it will put more of our people to work, which is the top priority of this administration."

Under the bill, Senate Bill 477, a firm would receive a tax credit of .5 percent of the investment made in land, machinery, buildings and other qualified property against its Corporate Personal Property Replacement Tax bill. It would apply to qualified property placed in service starting July 1, 1983, when the bill takes effect.

A final portion will concentrate on "juggling responsibilities" of the professional woman's particular problem.

Dr. Sheila Ruth, associate professor of philosophy and director of Women's Studies at SIUE, will lead the workshop. She is director of professional and training services at the university and has 18 years' experience teaching, lecturing and writing on business, education and government.

Management workshop for area women

Effectiveness Training, a two-day workshop for women who want to be ready for increased professional opportunities in management, is scheduled Sept. 15-16 at SIUE.

The sessions, sponsored by the Center for Management Studies in the School of Business, will seek to help women identify workday problems, such as stress, sexual harassment, sexual segregation or discrimination, and learn how to deal with them.

Nameoki refuses to accept 15 roads torn up by sewers

The Nameoki Town Board of Trustees Monday night agreed to ask the Madison County Board to withhold any final payments to the contractor of the new sanitary sewers in the township until proper repairs are made to township roads.

A letter was read from Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic to Gene Futch, superintendent of the county's special sewer district, in which Mehelic said he was very dissatisfied with the condition of the roads and drainage since the sewer construction.

Mehelic said the contractor for the sewers, S.M. Wilson Co., has been notified in writing that the township's highway department will not accept 15 roads for maintenance until needed repairs are made.

Roads said to be inadequately repaired after the sewer construction are Lake Drive, Division and Vine streets, Central Park, Garden and Breckenridge lanes and Hemlock, Harrison, Walnut, Wabash, Dawn, Cedar, Union and Ball avenues.

In other business, the board approved payment of $500 to Madison County Sheriff Toffant as the first payment for gasoline for the police car reactivated by the Nameoki Volunteer Police.

The volunteer police were reactivated last month by Toffant under a new state law authorizing him to utilize such free assistants, under certain restrictions, to help deputy sheriffs with patrolling duties.

Supervisor Harry Briggs explained the necessity for a public hearing to be held at 7 p.m. Monday at the township hall, prior to adopting levy for general assistance.

Briggs said the new state truth in taxation law requires any governmental body which plans to levy more than a five percent increase in any fund to have a public hearing to explain the increase.

In the last fiscal year, the general assistance fund had surplus funds, so the county levied only 2.07 cents per $100 of assessed valuation in the township, raising $85,800. This year, there are no surplus funds, so the township will levy the full 10 cent maximum to rebuild the fund, so a public hearing is required, Briggs said.

The board accepted a $250 bid for the sale of a 1976 Chevrolet station wagon the township has declared surplus. The bid was from Michael Scaggs, 3801 Lake Drive, and the board stipulated that the money will be deposited in the revenue sharing-senior citizens' account.

Mehelic was praised for moving the holding pond at Shirlee Drive and Dwight Avenue.

Trustee Helen Hawkins told the board that street lights have been approved for Maryville Road at Morrison Avenue and along the township side of Maryville Road.

Rape alleged by GC woman

A 19-year-old Granite City woman who lives in the 2800 block of West 20th St., told Madison County Sheriff's deputies that she left Vic's Tavern, 2001 Illinois Ave., at 11:55 p.m. on Friday with two men whom she thought were going to give her a ride home.

The men allegedly took her to the Jeeve, one mile South of the Chain of Rocks bridge, forced her to undress. Each man allegedly raped her twice.

They then drove her back to Granite City proper where she said she escaped and went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

DRIVING CHARGES
Craig E. Reynolds, 23, of the 2000 block of Madison Avenue was arrested at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday for alleged reckless driving and driving while under the influence of alcohol in the 2000 block alley between Madison and Grand avenues.

Restless earth is changing physically

(American Association for the Advancement of Science)

Almost every week there is news of an earthquake occurring or a volcano erupting somewhere. These are the most visible signs that our earth is a changing and restless planet.

"A great heat engine, fueled at least in part by radioactivity, decays deep in the earth, restlessly moving pieces of crust the size of continents," writes Philip H. Abelson in a special issue of Science, the weekly journal of the American Association for the advancement of Science.

Abelson, editor of Science, writes, "Motions of tectonic plates (pieces of the earth's crust) relative to each other averaging two to 10 centimeters per year are common."

"Such motions persist, and their cumulative effects are drastic changes in oceans and land."

Our constantly changing planet presents many challenges for earth scientists. New crust is being formed deep in the oceanic ridges.

The oldest rocks found on the ocean floor are 200 million years old, and yet the earth is about 4.6 billion million years old. And the oldest rocks found on land are 3.8 billion years old.

The clashing of tectonic plates has thrown up huge mountain chains. Most of the continental areas have been vastly deformed over the ages, but some remain little changed from the distant past.

The study of the earth's internal changes—geology and geophysics—has made great advances in recent years.

It is only since the 1950s, with the aid of deep-sea drilling and improved methods for measuring the magnetic rocks from the ocean bottom, that the theory of moving tectonic plates has been accepted.

New discoveries are calling into question long-held beliefs about our earth. For example, scientists have discovered that the ancient rock formation of the Appalachian Piedmont and Blue Ridge appear to have been pushed 200 kilometers west over younger rock bases.

The researchers think this vast movement was related to the early Atlantic Ocean opening and closing many times.

A major geophysical concept is also now in doubt. "Uniformitarianism" holds that all physical processes, like volcanoes and erosion, have occurred in the same way throughout time.

But new findings are making scientists rethink uniformitarianism. Magma (molten rock) reaching the earth's surface has changed since earliest time. And research shows that radioactive heat earlier was released at four times the present rate.

This means the earth's engine was once more violently active...but how?

International cooperation in geology and geophysics is essential, says Abelson. The earth, obviously, is not the same everywhere and all of its differing faces should be studied, he contends.

"Out of this (work)," writes Abelson, "will come better understanding of the past, better knowledge of earthquakes and allied natural hazards, and an improved basis for discovery of mineral and petroleum concentrations."

Filmstrip on pre-arranged funerals

The Illinois Funeral Directors Association, Springfield, has produced a 12 minute, color filmstrip and cassette entitled, "A Gift of Guidance."

The "Prearranged Funeral," in response to increasing interest among consumers to prearrange funerals.

Funeral director members of the Illinois Funeral Directors Association have access to this and a variety of other consumer information resources for use by civic organizations, churches and service clubs.

This filmstrip outlines specifics of the funeral and Burial Funds Act which was passed in 1955 to provide protection and flexibility to consumers in their prearranged funeral arrangements. It answers many questions consumers themselves have asked about prearranged funerals.

Today, the Office of Illinois Comptroller Roland Burris reports more than $22 million is held in trust for prearranged funerals, up from $4 million in 1976. IFDA predicts deposits will exceed $100 million by 1990.

BURGLARY ON WILLOW
Burglars stole china, a pearl necklace and a box of canned food from the home of Ann Howard in the 3100 block of Willow Avenue between 9 a.m. and 10:40 p.m. Monday. Entry was gained by forcing the front door open, damaging the door jamb. All rooms and closets in the house were ransacked and the refrigerator door was left open.

Wolf, Vadalabene favor new drunk-driving law

Senator Sam Vadalabene and Representative Sam Wolf announced that with Governor Thompson's approval of Senate Bill 457, Illinois will have the best statutory tools available in the country to identify and remove the driver who is impaired because of alcohol or other drugs from our streets and highways.

Effective Jan. 1, 1982, everyone arrested for driving under the influence will be asked to submit to a chemical test of their breath, blood or urine to determine the blood alcohol concentration.

If they refuse, they will be subject to a 6 month suspension of their driving privileges. In addition, the fact they did refuse can be used in subsequent judicial proceedings.

There are several other substantive changes in the present law which have proven to be time consuming, cumbersome and for the most part ineffective. Illinois' new law will mirror the Uniform Vehicle Code which is considered a model standard used by all states as a guide to promulgate uniformity of traffic laws. Senator Vadalabene who was the co-sponsor of SB-457, stated this was one of his most important pieces of legislation and because of the General Assembly has now provided law enforcement and the judicial community with the means of promulgating an intensified and effective program of removing this irresponsible menace, who is involved in approximately 50 percent of our fatal crashes, from Illinois' motoring society.

Representative Wolf said that as a member of the Motor Vehicle Laws Commission, (Vadalabene is vice-chairman of this commission) he will be vigorously monitoring the effect and success of this new approach to see if additional amendatory legislation is warranted.

BOY BRUISED WHEN CYCLE STRIKES CAR

Robert W. Lewis, four years and ten months old, 4522 Walter Ave., escaped with multiple bruises at 3:05 p.m. Tuesday when his pedal cycle struck a moving auto in the 2700 block of Denver Street.

Darlene Snyder, 23, of 2823 Denver was driving west and skidded her car in an effort to avoid the child. The north-bound cycle emerged from behind a parked vehicle and hit the left side of the Snyder auto at the extreme front.

The Lions and Lioness clubs of Pontoon Beach have completed a year-long project with the installation of two welcoming signs erected along Highway 111 on the north and south ends of the village. From left are David Schermer, immediate past president of the Lions Club under whose administration the project started; Bob Barton, current president of the group; Ron Shafer, general manager of the Spartan Health Spa which provided ground for the sign pictured at the south end of the village, and Mrs. Kenneth Whittington, secretary of the First Church of the Nazarene, which provided the ground for the northern sign. A third sign is planned for the western village light on Pontoon Road.

Conduct charge

David H. Pugh, 39, of 2301 Nameok Road, Trailer 17, was charged with disorderly conduct in connection with a disturbance in Trailer 10 at that address at 10:10 p.m. Monday.

Ethel Stewart of Trailer 10, alleged that Pugh came to her trailer to talk to his wife and became disorderly, breaking a door from its hinges and striking Stinson Stewart III on the head.

He left in a black Dodge. Later, he called police from the Long Branch Tavern, 21st Street and Grand Avenue, and reported that his car had been stolen from that tavern's parking lot.

He was arrested at the tavern on a complaint signed by Mrs. Stewart.

A witness said a black Dodge struck a parked car at 23rd Street and Monroe Avenue and left the scene after 10 p.m. Monday.

The owner of the other car left following the black Dodge and never reported the accident, authorities said. Pugh's auto was found at 4:15 a.m. Tuesday in the alley between the 2800 blocks of Madison and Grand avenues. It had pieces missing which matched pieces left in the street at the scene of the accident, officers said.

The high calibre of the Granite City elementary school system was again proven with the announcement Wednesday afternoon that the local exhibitions at the State Fair in Springfield carried away second prize money in competition with other Illinois schools. A total of $80 was awarded the local schools while Springfield received $90, Peoria $65, and Cicero $35. It is noticeable that these three schools against which Granite City students competed are two and even four times larger, but in spite of the enormous difference in size the local pupils were barely beaten, for first place. There were entries in eight of the ten competitive events while the other schools concentrated more on just a few of the contests.

The Granite City Diamond Jubilee Pageant has something for everyone. It invokes nostalgia in many older citizens as long-remembered incidents from the past are revived via authentic slides and colorful sequences on the pageant stage. "Profiles in Progress," the epic Jubilee presentation, produced by Robert McGarry of John B. Rogers Production Co., began its week-long run Monday evening in an outdoor setting in Wilson Park.

106,000 tax bills are on their way

County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus reported yesterday that approximately 75 percent of the 106,000 tax bills being sent to Madison County homeowners have been mailed and the remainder will be mailed out this week.

Of that number, $5,000 were mailed directly to homeowners and the remainder are being sent to savings and loan associations, banks and mortgage institutions which pay the taxes for homeowners who have escrow accounts for that purpose.

Henkhaus disagreed with statements published Monday from Granite City Treasurer Nick Petrillo that the taxing bodies would receive their money faster if the tax bills are paid at local banks or the city treasurer's office in city hall.

"The county has spent a lot of money on a computer and a computer that works. I thought last year it worked great. We can get the money distributed just as fast as the township collectors can and have made arrangements with the banks collecting the taxes to invest them for a week or no more than two weeks before disbursement."

"We disburse $61 million in taxes to more than 280 taxing agencies. With the manpower we have and the computer, it is done in a timely basis throughout the tax cycle," Henkhaus contended.

Persons receiving tax bills this week should pay at least the first installment by the due date of Sept. 30. The penalty date is Oct. 1 for the first installment.

The second and final installment will be Nov. 30 and the penalty date is Dec. 1, Henkhaus said. Homeowners who have not received a tax bill by Tuesday, Sept. 1, should call the county treasurer's office at 1-492-4504 immediately to determine if the address and information given the computer were correct, he noted. Residents are liable for paying their tax bill, even if the bill was not received, so it is important that every homeowner whose taxes are not paid by a lending institution contacts the treasurer's office if he does not receive a bill.

Once again, Henkhaus has arranged to have the township tax collectors collect at their offices and at all local banks in an effort to speed distribution of the money to the cash-starved taxing districts.

However, he pledged, money from taxpayers who elect to mail their payments to the county treasurer's office in Edwardsville rather than paying the bills locally will be distributed to the taxing districts just as fast as if they were paid to the township collectors.

"We do a great job. The information is fed to the computer and the money is disbursed almost immediately. There is no truth to the rumor that the county invests the money and reaps the interest before disbursing the taxes. No truth at all," Henkhaus pledged.

Helen Hawkins seeks a county board seat

Mrs. Helen Hawkins, a Nameoki Township trustee, announced yesterday that she plans to run next spring for the District 19 county board seat currently held by Bill Webb.

Mrs. Hawkins said she intends to enter the Democratic primary election as a candidate for that Madison County Board seat because she does not believe the district has been adequately represented, leading to high sewer rates, inadequate drainage and zoning decisions which have not been favorable to the growth of the area.

Under the redistricted boundaries, District 19 includes Nameoki Township Precincts 5, 6 and 8 and Granite City Precincts 21, 22, 23, 24, 31 and 34.

Mrs. Hawkins, who has been unsuccessful in two previous candidacies for the county board, said she was encouraged by friends and residents to run, since she has been an outspoken worker for improved drainage and a fair system of charges for sanitary sewers in the area.

Explanation of state rules required by law

Legislation requiring that a notice of an adopted rule filed by a state agency contain the name of someone who can answer the public's questions has been approved by Governor James R. Thompson.

"This bill will help take some of the confusion out of rule-making for Illinois citizens," Thompson said. "Now a person who wants to know more about a proposed rule has a way to get to a source and get his questions answered."

House Bill 1209 provides that when the published text of an adopted rule is filed with the Secretary of State's Office, it must contain the name, address and telephone number of the person who can answer questions from the public about the rule. The measure was sponsored by Representative Elihu Levin and Senator Art

Berman, both of Chicago.

The governor also: Approved Senate Bill 514, which requires an agency to hold public hearings on proposed rules if requested by 25 interested persons, an association representing at least 100 interested persons, the governor, the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules, or the unit of local government that may be affected.

It also requires an agency to adopt rules within one year of announcing those proposed rules or else the proposed rules lapse.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Berman and Representative Glen Bower of Effingham.

Signed House Bill 145, which reorganizes and codifies civil procedure.

It combines into one act the provisions of the Civil Practice Act and many other acts relating to civil procedure. The measure was proposed by the Law Revision Commission and had bipartisan support in the Legislature.

It was sponsored by Representative Robert Terzich and Senator William Marovitz, both of Chicago.

Vetoed Senate Bill 1146, which would have provided that all hearing officers under the Administrative Procedures Act be lawyers.

Thompson also said the bill would be extremely costly to state government and that in many instances hearings are of such a limited nature that it would not be appropriate to use an attorney's time on them.

New magazine for Channel 9 members

The Dial, the national magazine for public television, will begin arriving in over 35,000 households in this metropolitan area during the next week. Available here only to supporters of KETC, Channel 9, The Dial cannot be bought on newsstands or purchased by individual subscribers.

Current KETC members and all new supporters contributing $35 per year ($15 for students and senior citizens) will receive the magazine.

The Dial premiered in September 1980 in New York, Chicago, Washington and Los Angeles. On its first anniversary, it is being read by 815,000 public television subscribers in nine markets. The additional Dial cities are St. Louis, Detroit, Rochester, Miami and Salt Lake City.

In October, the number of subscribers will increase to 920,000 when Seattle and Milwaukee join. The purpose is to attract greater private support to public television. Not a general purpose magazine, it is an extension of public TV designed to broaden the knowledge and sharpen the appreciation of what viewers see on their screens. It is hoped that increasing appreciation of what viewers see on their screens. It is hoped that increasing appreciation of what viewers see on their screens. GC Steel cited in July 8 explosion, is penalized

By ED GUNNEY

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration has issued a citation to Granite City Steel in connection with an incident at the plant July 8 that caused serious injuries to three employees from Collinsville.

The citation was issued by the firm Thursday following an investigation that lasted from July 9-28, according to Leroy Olsen, supervisor of OSHA's district office in Belleville. The citation was issued under provisions of the 1970 Occupational Safety and Health Administration Act. The proposed penalty is $480.

On July 8 an explosion at the plant caused serious burns to Nicholas Novosel, 26; Richard Bickel, 32; and Burleigh Hawk, 44.

The three are still in St. John's Mercy Medical Center in St. Louis. Friday, both Novosel and Bickel were listed in serious condition. Hawk's condition was given as satisfactory.

The citation states: "During continuous slag casting operations in the continuous casting building the employer did not utilize effective means to detect and prevent slag from entering the tundish in quantities which, if passed through the tundish and mold and entered the cooling water spray chamber may cause an expanding steam-induced slag explosion, exposing employees at the mold area to the hazard of being burned by flying slag."

Determination of the penalty was a lengthy process using a predetermined table with a number of factors considered, Olsen said. Penalties of up to $1,000 are possible with the system. Olsen said that the original penalty was determined to be $700. Granite City Steel's positive history and experience with OSHA merited a reduction of 30 percent, Olsen said.

Olsen said Granite City Steel has the right to an informal conference with OSHA to bring up information to dispute the alleged violation.

The men's union, Local 16 of the United Steelworkers, also has the right to a similar conference to make a presentation, Olsen said. Based on the conferences OSHA could amend or rescind the citation.

Olsen said Granite City Steel would also have the right to contest the citation before an independent review board in Washington, D.C.

If Granite City Steel does not contest the citation, or if it contests and loses, it must submit a report on the methods to be used to prevent a similar incident in the future, Olsen said.

A spokesman for Granite City Steel said the firm is studying whether or not to contest the citation.

The president of Local 16 said last month that a shroud may have helped cause the explosion.

The president, Gerald Teller, said a shroud prevented a ladle operator from seeing that all the steel was poured out of the ladle and that slag, a waste product, was being poured, too.

The shroud was placed between the ladle and the tundish (a type of holding container from which steel is poured into a mold), Teller said.

Slag reportedly reacted with water and caused the explosion.

A spokesman for Granite City Steel stated a mistake was made by the operating crew and that nothing of an unusual nature contributed to the accident.

Bill broadens investments for state pension funds

Governor James R. Thompson has announced he has approved a bill that broadens the investment possibilities for the state's pension funds.

"This bill will allow our state's employee pension systems to invest in some high-yielding markets while at the same time expanding the availability of capital for housing in our state," the governor said.

Senate Bill 881 authorizes public employee pension funds in the state to invest in conventionally insured mortgage pass-through certificates. State systems currently have the authority to invest in government guaranteed mortgage pass-through instruments.

The bill is permissive, allowing system experts to determine whether to invest in the securities. The bill requires that investments be made in owner-occupied housing located in Illinois. Securities the state invests in under the bill must carry at least an "A" rating from one of the national securities rating services.

The measure was sponsored by senator John Davidson and Representative Irv Smith, both of Springfield.

Toughen penalties for bail jumpers

Governor James R. Thompson has signed legislation toughening penalties for bail jumpers and those who try to influence a juror.

"Those who forfeit their bail and fail to show up in court are put on notice that bail jumping is a serious crime that will be dealt with," Thompson said.

"Anyone who tries to influence a juror should be aware that his will not be taken lightly by the criminal justice system. One of the foundations of our court system is that jurors are allowed to make impartial judgments, without outside influence or threats."

House Bill 149 makes the penalty for jumping bail a felony of the next lower class than the crime. In the case of a Class 4 felony, the bail-jumping penalty would be a Class A misdemeanor.

The measure was sponsored by Representative John Cullerton, Chicago and Senator George Sangmeister, Mokena. House Bill 577 increases the penalty for influencing a juror from a Class A misdemeanor to a Class 4 felony.

The bill was sponsored by Representative Ethel Alexander and Senator Leroy Lemke, both of Chicago.

Thompson also signed Senate Bill 61, which requires police officers to help those they arrest place the arrested person's children with a relative or other responsible person. If the police officer or a judge before whom the suspect is appearing has reason to believe that a child may be neglected, the officer or a probation officer under the direction of the judge, is to report that immediately to the state Department of Children of Family Services.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Earlean Collins and Representative Carol Braun, both of Chicago.

SOUGHT IN BEATING

Police are searching for a 25-year-old "man" who allegedly struck Mike Baker of the 300 block of McNair Avenue, Madison, in the 2700 block of Nameoki Road at 12:05 p.m. Monday. Baker said he was walking on the sidewalk when a car stopped nearby and a man he knew got out and followed him. Baker fled onto a porch to seek help, but there was no one home. That house and the man followed Baker onto the porch, struck Baker's head and back and then threw a lawn chair at him, cutting Baker's right arm and damaging the porch. The man then left the scene, but drove past moments later before driving away.

LOUD MUSIC CHARGE

A boy 15, was arrested in the 3700 block of Johnson Road for disorderly conduct last week. He allegedly turned music excessively loud on repeated occasions.

THIS IS A RE-PUBLICATION OF THE NOTICE FIRST PUBLISHED MON., AUG. 24, 1981

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO BE HELD BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF CITY OF GRANITE CITY TO COMPLY WITH THE TRUTH-IN-TAXATION ACT OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS (Public Act No. 82-102)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GRANITE CITY, ILLINOIS, THAT

1. The aggregate amount of property taxes exclusive of election costs, extended by the County Clerk of Madison County, Illinois, upon the levy by the City of Granite City, Illinois, for its fiscal year 1980-1981, based on the assessed valuation of the City of Granite City, Illinois, for the year 1980, was $2,500,000.00.

2. That the amount of the City of Granite City proposed levy, exclusive of election costs, estimated as necessary to be raised by taxation for the City's fiscal year 1981-1982, and based on taxes levied against the assessed valuation of the City for the year 1981, is $3,000,000.00.

3. Said proposed levy of $3,000,000.00 represents an increase of $500,000.00 in the proposed aggregate amount of property taxes to be levied and extended for the fiscal year 1981-1982 against the assessed valuation of the City for the year 1981 as said levy relates to the taxes extended of the levy of the preceding year of 1980.

4. A public hearing regarding said proposed aggregate amount of property tax to be levied and extended for the City's fiscal year 1981-1982, on the assessed valuation of the City for the year 1981, will be held at 7:00 p.m., on the 1st day of September, 1981, in the Granite City Township Hall, located at 2060 Delmar Ave., Granite City, Illinois.

All persons desiring to be heard on any matter regarding the proposed tax levy of the City for the year 1981 may appear and be heard at the said time and place.

DATED This 21st day of August, 1981.

SAM COOPER 30 Year's Experience

Tall wind turbines provide — and attract — electricity

Once there were more than a million of them dotting the Great Plains, pumping water for irrigation and cattle.

Then they were called windmills. Modern versions are called wind turbines, and some experts think they may provide a big breath of energy independence—some in the future.

But there's a tall problem with trying to use the wind to generate electricity—electrical storms.

Just about any place where winds are reliable enough for power generation is also going to have a lot of thunderstorms," said Curtis W. Dodd of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale's department of electrical sciences and systems engineering.

Dodd directs a three-year project—funded by the federal Department of Energy and overseen by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration—a imed at finding a reliable way to protect towering wind turbines from thunderstorm lightning strikes.

"You're talking about tall structures sitting out in the middle of nowhere. It's not a question of if you'll get hit. It's what's going to happen when you do get hit."

The turbines and their towers definitely are tall. Dodd says three experimental units newly built by the Boeing Corp. in western Washington have 300-foot blades mounted atop 200-foot towers.

Other turbines around the country feature blades which range from 120 to 200 feet in length, and towers as high as 20-story buildings.

The danger from lightning to wind turbines is twofold. The powerful bolts can damage the turbine blades. And the lightning is deadly to the electronic circuits, sensors and computers used to control the increasingly sophisticated generating units.

"If an unprotected wooden blade gets hit by a lightning strike," said Dodd, "you've got kindling."

Although wooden blades on a sophisticated wind turbine may sound like a technological step backward, many designers are using materials such as wood and fiberglass to build strong, lightweight blades.

Protecting the propeller-like blades isn't all that difficult, Dodd says.

"Non-metallic blades can be lightning-proofed with grounded metal strips or screens."

"But keeping the delicate electronic circuits from getting fried by lightning is a trickier proposition."

"Modern electronic circuits generally operate on 15 volts less."

"A lightning strike carries millions of volts. And currents up to 300,000 amps aren't unknown."

"The difficulty in handling such large amounts of electrical energy is that it arcs or jumps easily from one conductor to another. It can go right through all but the toughest insulation, and it finds its way through even the tiniest holes in electrical shielding."

"Just putting a lightning rod on top of the tower won't work."

"Any time you put up a lightning protection device, you've got to have some place for the strike to go," Dodd said. "Lightning rods would help some, but the electronics would still pick up some voltages."

Thomas M. McCalla Jr. and David L. Begley, engineers working with him on the project, are investigating improved grounding to protect the electronic control circuits.

Dodd and the rest of the research team are studying the problem of lightning strikes on wind turbines across the country, including five experimental installations in Ohio, Rhode Island, North Carolina, Texas and New Mexico. All have been hit by lightning at least once.

Experts disagree about how big a contribution wind turbine energy will make to the nation's future energy needs.

An affirmative consensus puts it between half of one percent and one percent of the total electrical energy budget by the year 2000. This may not sound like much, but it would be enough to supply electricity for a city the size of St. Louis.

Weather patterns in Illinois make the state a poor candidate for large-scale use of wind turbines, Dodd says.

But large areas of the Great Plains, and west coast shorelines and some parts of the Great Lakes region have the sort of reliable winds that turbines need to work.

Some people don't like the idea of seeing 300- or 300-foot towers dotting the landscape, of course, and the rotating metal blades have interfered with television reception when built near residential areas.

The "whooshwhoosh" sound of the slowly turning blades also irritates some people, Dodd says, and NASA is trying to solve such problems.

He and his colleagues are in the second year of a planned three-year project funded by NASA at $106,000 a year. Also in the project are James G. Smith, professor and chairman of the department of electrical sciences and systems engineering, and Gloria R. Rivera, a researcher.

Creates new crime category

Legislation creating a new crime category of "feticide" has been signed into law by Governor James R. Thompson.

"This bill fills a void in our criminal code. It allows the murder penalty to be brought against anyone who causes the death of a child being carried by its mother during an attack on the mother," the governor said.

The act would apply if the person committing the crime either intended to kill or do great bodily harm to the mother carrying the fetus; knew that his or her acts created a strong probability of death or great bodily harm to the mother; was attempting to commit a forcible felony against the mother; or should have known that the mother was pregnant. The bill states that the fetus is one who is determined at the autopsy to have been capable, beyond a reasonable doubt, of living outside the womb at the time of its death.

The measure, which is effective immediately, does not apply to lawful abortions or self-defense.

The penalty for feticide is the same as that for murder, except the death penalty may not be imposed.

Senate Bill 192 was sponsored by Senator Randy Thomas, Silvis, and Representative Jack Davis, Beecher.

Thompson vetoed Senate Bill 915, which was similar, because of its unacceptable definition of fetus.

Legislation reduces taxes for new firms to encourage business

Approval of legislation allowing local taxing districts to reduce property taxes for new firms or firms moving to Illinois was announced Monday by Governor James R. Thompson.

"Every effort must be made to attract new businesses to Illinois and to encourage existing firms to move here," the governor said. "This bill gives those industries one more reason to move to Illinois, a state that is doing all it can to improve an already good business climate during a period of rough economic times."

Senate Bill 486, which amends the Revenue Act, allows taxes to be reduced for up to 10 years, although the total amount of tax dollars reduced over the decade cannot exceed $1 million.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Prescott Bloom, Peoria, and Representative Jack Davis, Beecher.

The governor also approved a bill that amends the Illinois Insurance Code, allowing two or more employers with similar job-risk characteristics to pool workers' compensation premiums to determine their insurance rate.

The bill will allow employers to develop credible rating statistics which might reduce their worker's compensation premiums. It also allows two or more employers of similar professional organizations and associations to pool their liabilities to enable them to qualify as group self-insurers.

Senate Bill 662 was sponsored by Senator Aldo DeAngelis, Chicago Heights, and Representative Elroy Sandquist, Chicago.

The governor also approved Senate Bill 1218, a measure that amends the Emergency Medical Services Systems Act, granting immunity from all liability to trained persons who perform cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

The bill was sponsored by Senator Steven Nash, and Representative Alfred Ronan, both of Chicago.

House Bill 1661, legislation that prohibits local governments from limiting housing choices with discriminatory policies. The measure amends the Human Rights Act and the Municipal Code.

The bill was sponsored by Representative Carol Moseley Braun, and Senator Richard Newhouse, both of Chicago.

House Bill 894, a measure that allows River Conservancy District Boards to issue notes drawn against real estate or personal property owned by the district. The notes are limited to 9 percent annual interest or 70 percent of the prime rate.

The bill was sponsored by Representative James Ben Christopher, and Senator Gene Johns, Marion.

Senate Bill 347, legislation that changes the definition of "chronic truancy" from 15 out of 90 days absent without valid excuse, to 10 out of 40 consecutive school days. The measure also mandates that hearings on truancy petitions be held within 10 days instead of 30, and requires decisions within 30 days instead of 90.

The bill was sponsored by Senator John Matland and Representative Gordon Ropp, both of Bloomington. Senate Bill 516, a measure that makes possession of a firearm silencer a Class 3 felony rather than a Class A misdemeanor, effective immediately.

The bill was sponsored by Senator Leroy Lemke, and Representative Roman Kosinski, both of Chicago.

Senate Bill 1110, legislation that outlines stricter penalties for multiple violations of the Hazardous Materials Transportation Act. The bill provides that on petition of the Illinois Attorney General or State's Attorney, the court can restrict transportation of hazardous material and/or order a civil penalty not exceeding $10,000.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Adeline Geo-Karis, Zion, and Representative Craig Findley, Virginia.

Senate Bill 903, which amends the Public Utilities Act to increase penalties for vandalizing railroad crossing signs. The bill provides that a fine of no less than $50 but not more than $200 be imposed for each offense and that the guilty person may be ordered to make restitution for the costs of repair or replacement.

The bill was sponsored by Senator Max Coffey, Charleston, and Representative Ellis Levin, Chicago.

HOUSEBOAT BURGLARIZED Milton Morris reported to the Venice police Monday that a 48-foot houseboat he built was ransacked and burglarized sometime during the weekend. The boat is called the "Queen Mary." A list of items taken is being made for police. The boat was kept at the Milnor Manufacturing Co., McKinley Street in Venice.

BURGLARY BY TEENS

Two teenage boys dressed in dark clothes left on a bicycle after burglarizing the apartment of April Costello at 2200 Adams St. at 9:15 p.m. Tuesday. Entry was gained by forcing open a window screen. They obtained $800 cash and $140 worth of food stamps.

MACARTHUR OUT

Gen. MacArthur was relieved of his commands in Korea and Japan on April 11, 1951, because of his differences with the Truman administration.

EPA receives comments on GC Steel C battery

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is now receiving public comments on intent to grant air pollution permit to Granite City Steel for reconstruction of the old C battery at the steel plant. The comments will be received until Sept. 17.

National Steel Corp., parent body of Granite City Steel, the Illinois EPA and the U.S. EPA have signed a consent decree specifying pollution control measures which must be used in the future at Granite City Steel, it was announced. The decree has been filed with the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Illinois, and sets emission limits for the C Battery coke oven.

The Illinois EPA, it was reported, has reviewed plans of the new battery and announced that it has concluded that lower achievement emission rate requirements will comply with state air pollution rules and regulations providing certain conditions are met.

Persons requiring information concerning the application, the EPA's findings and conditions for approval may obtain such information at the office of Mayor Paul Schuler, 115 W. Main St., Collinsville, or at the Illinois EPA Library, 2200 Church Road, Springfield, ILL. 61706; 217-785-7357.

Springfield.

The public comment period began last week. EPA rules provide that public hearings on permit applications may be held if 25 or more persons, either individuals or in a petition, seek such a hearing.

A hearing request also may be made by a member of the Illinois General Assembly or from the chief executive officer from a county or municipality of the affected area.

Persons with questions about the permit can submit written comment, or a request for a hearing, to John Perry, Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, 2200 Church Road, Springfield, ILL. 61706; 217-785-7357.

Philanthropy by B. E. Moody is cited by Rotary

Local, district and international recognition has been accorded to the business enterprise and philanthropy of the late Beryl E. Moody, longtime owner and operator of a new and used automobile agency in Granite City.

Paul Harris Fellowship has been extended posthumously to Mr. Moody, whose widow, Marie, accepted the honor from Dean Maberry, past president of the Granite City Rotary Club, and Kenneth Evers, past Rotary District 646 governor, at a club dinner held at Sunset Hills Country Club.

Sponsors were Henry O. Lovett and his sons, Donald R. and Richard E. Lovett, of the Dixon (Ill.) National Bank.

Mr. Moody and the elder Lovett, a former Granite City banker, were friends and participated in many community service programs together over a period of years.

The late Paul Harris founded Rotary International at Chicago in 1905, and the fellowship bearing his name gives major impetus to the world-wide service clubs' objective of international understanding and good will.

Through the Harris foundation, high school boys and girls spend a year overseas studying and gaining familiarity with foreign issues and people, and young business persons spend six weeks touring overseas industries.

Mr. Moody was a Rotarian and as president of the Granite City Rotary Club, Mr. Moody helped advance a wide range of service activities in the local community as well as participating in projects spearheaded by RI and District 646.

He was an authority on horses and on horse show competition, and his family acquired numerous trophies recognizing their expertise. Mr. Moody chaired Rotary horse shows at local sites, formerly the club's principal benefit fund-raising activity, and each fall he hosted fellow Rotarians at an outing on his horse farm.

"B. E. Moody will always be remembered as an outstanding and compassionate citizen. Through the Paul Harris Fellowship, the example he set during his lifetime of service will shine perpetually as a beacon and inspire the positive impact an individual can have on his home area, his region and the world," a Rotary spokesman commented.

Federal tax cuts praised

President Reagan's tax-cut package can be successfully implemented without worsening the nation's inflation rate, predicted almost two-thirds of those taking part in a survey conducted Monday in this metropolitan area.

Sixty percent said they expected the tax-cut law to go into effect without raising the rate of inflation. Thirty-one percent disagreed with that, and 17 percent chose to make no prediction.

The questionnaire survey was conducted during a free seminar on the tax-cut package held at the Sheraton-St. Louis Hotel. About 800 attended the seminar, and more than 300 responded to the questionnaire.

On another question, 69 percent predicted the tax-cut package would produce an increase in the personal savings rate. Thirty-one percent said it would not.

Sixty-two percent said they plan to invest in an individual retirement Account (IRA) even though they are currently covered by a company pension plan. Tax laws prohibited virtually everyone in a company pension plan from investing in an IRA. But the new tax package allows people to have IRAs even if they also take part in company plans.

The new savers "certificate" allowed under terms of the package was lauded by 60 percent of the respondents.

They said the new certificates, which allow persons to collect up to $1,000 interest tax-free, are preferable to the old law, which had allowed $200 tax-free interest income.

Terrace Garden Club marks anniversary

The Terrace Garden Club is donating $50 to the Special Living Center, a home for retarded adults in Swansea, Ill., in observance of the 25th anniversary of the organization this year, according to an announcement by the president, Mrs. Mildred Jungels.

The home houses adults 18 years of age or older and is supported solely by fund raising projects, families and friends of the patients at the center. It is a new organization and in need of financial assistance, the president added.

The garden club was organized in 1956 with Mrs. Roland Evans as its first president. Current members plan to visit the historical Sappington House and Tea Room in St. Louis, to mark the club anniversary.

During the years the members have supported and worked on the Madison County Nature Trail, planted flowers and trees at Wilson Park and Memorial Park at Netherfield and Madison avenues, donated to the Tree of Lights and other community projects, Mrs. Jungels noted.

Miss Judith Rae Elledge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Elledge of Granite City, and Kenneth David Hubbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hubbard, 904 Twenty-fourth St., were united in marriage on April 4 at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. William T. Brannon officiated at the 6:30 p.m. double ring ceremony and Mrs. Rebecca Soden sang, "Sunrise, Sunset," "You Needed Me," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. Soden also served as matron of honor and Mrs. Betty Grba, a sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid.

For her wedding, the bride wore a formal white chiffon gown complemented with a melody length veil, edged in lace. She carried a bouquet of silk white roses, and purple carnations baby's

The honor attendant chose an orchid bouquet in a purple dress.

A reception was held at the American Legion Hall, 1825 State St., and the rehearsal dinner was hosted in the home of John and Becky Runyan, cousins of the groom. Colleen Brannon and Pam Peck, the bride's cousin, attended the guest book.

A graduate of South High School, the bride also graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She is employed as a library technical assistant at SIUE.

The groom attended South High School and is working as a baker at Taylor's Bakery. They are residing in Granite City.

Karen Malottki passes CPS exam

Mrs. Karen R. Malottki, secretary to James A. Best, vice-president retail administration, at the First National Bank in St. Louis, has been notified she will receive the Certified Professional Secretary designation.

This award is earned by completing a 2-day 13 hour examination covering Behavioral Science, Business Law, Economics and Management, Accounting, Secretarial Skills and Decision Making and Office Procedures and administration.

Of the 5,852 individuals who took the examination in 1981, only 966 received certification. This brings the total number of CPSs to 15,051, since its inception in 1961.

The examination is sponsored by the Professional Secretaries International and is given at colleges and other examination centers throughout the nation annually during the first weekend in May.

Mrs. Malottki is one of the new members of the Tri-Cities Chapter, PSI, and recognition will be accorded by the members at a chapter dinner meeting on Thursday, Oct. 1, according to officers of the local chapter.

Fall topics for homemaker units

Extension Advisers Catherine Mauck and Geraldine Bower will give a lesson on "Mid-Life Transitions" for Homemakers Extension Association unit meetings next week. The discussion will include changes that occur in the middle years, how to adjust to them, and how to maintain flexibility and determination in establishing achieving goals. Forthcoming dates include:

Tuesday, Sept. 1: Granite City Homemakers, noon. Nameoki Presbyterian Church, 1700 Pontoon Road.

Local leaders will teach a lesson on "Recognizing and Dealing with Depression" for groups including:

Tuesday, Sept. 1: Trio, noon, Hope Lutheran

KAREN MALOTTKI

Mrs. Gail Foley, CPS manager, administrative services at Ralston Purina Co., will speak on the CPS examination at the October meeting. She has conducted classes covering the different facets of the examination.

Mrs. Malottki and her husband, Robert, reside with their two sons, David and Robert at 3107 Yale Drive. The Tri-Cities Chapter is interested in developing a list of local individuals who have earned the CPS rating since 1961 and requests all past and present residents who have received this designation to contact Mrs. Kathy Smith at 344-4172 or Mrs. Nancy Rezin, Lindsay at 876-2858.

Church, 3715 Vashaw Ave., Granite City.

Carol Bauman, Highland, president of the Madison County Homemakers Extension Association, will head a delegation of county women who will attend the fall district meeting of the Illinois Homemakers Extension Federation on Greenville from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sept. 1.

The delegates will attend sessions on programs, membership, citizenship, safety, public information, family living and cultural arts. The afternoon program will feature presentation of awards for various areas of county program achievement.

County Board members accompanying Mrs. Bauman to Greenville will be Shirley Stahlhut, Norma Meyer and Sharon Helms, Edwardsville; Helen Miller, Arline Brinkmeyer and Lillian Adams, Granite City; Anna Reising, Hannibal; Joe Read and Leona Hendricks, Bethalto; Louise Snyder and Mary Enright, Troy; and Catherine Mauck, extension adviser.

Mildred Dresch, Alhambra, Illinois, Homemakers Extension Federation District 8 director, will be in charge of the meeting.

Former residents announce daughter

Former residents Mr. and Mrs. Marvin (Venessa) Collins who now reside at 132 Essex St., Lynn, Mass., are announcing the birth of a daughter on Aug. 26.

The new arrival has been named, Kathryn Jean Collins.

Grandparents include Jewell King, Granite City; Stella Lazaris, Lynn, Mass. The great-grandmother Veneta Georgevakes, of Salem, Mass.

Lea Anne Haddix is christened

Lea Anne Haddix, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry (Cindy) Haddix of Granite City, was christened this week at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ.

The Rev. James Brown officiated at the ceremony. Sponsors for the youngster were Miss Anne Harris and Mark Huelskoetter, an uncle of the baby.

A dinner followed the christening at the home of the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald A. Huelskoetter, 1612 Ferguson Ave.

Guests attending were the honoree's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Genevieve Haddix, great-grandmother, Mrs. Lois Baumberger and Mrs. Alma Huelskoetter and Mrs. Mary Jane Krauss and sons, Mike and Kelly, Miss Connie Huelskoetter.

Also Mrs. Marian Funk, and Marine Sergeant Mark A. Huelskoetter, son of the hosts.

Sgt. Huelskoetter is home for a 30-day leave and will report on Sept. 10 at Marine Corps Headquarters in Washington, D.C. He enlisted in the service December 1978.

NON-EMERGENCY AMBULANCE SERVICE AVAILABLE

"Human experience," wrote Samuel Johnson, "which is constantly contradicting theory, is the greatest of truths. A system, built upon the discoveries of a great many minds, is always of more strength than what is produced by mere workings of any one mind, which, of itself, can do little. There is not so poor a book in the world that would not be a prodigious effort were it wrought out entirely by a single mind without the aid of prior investigators."

At MERCER, THOMAS AND SEDLACK MORTUARIES we have had the exposure to "human experience" that allows us to develop the approach, recommendations, and services that are required by the bereaved at a most difficult moment. Our capable and concerned staff will offer the information and support that will be of tremendous assistance in helping you to make the necessary decisions and to sustain your emotions and spirit through such times.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"The French writers are superficial, because they are not scholars, and so proceed upon the mere power of their own minds; and we see how very little power they have."

Chris Loyet returns from Kentucky camp

Chris Loyet, a member of Cadette Troop 328 of River Bluffs Girl Scout Council, has returned home after attending a wide opportunity "Recreation Round-up" at Land Between the Lakes and Golden Pond, Ky., sponsored by the Kentuckiana Girl Scout Council.

The opening ceremony was held at Bear Creek Aquatic Camp on Kentucky Lake and the following morning the participants were taken by boat to their home base at Colson Hollow in Land Between the Lakes where they camped under primitive conditions.

After arriving and setting up camp, the scouts raised flags representing each home state that included 22 states.

Several Tennessee Valley Authority personnel spoke to the scouts about different careers in outdoor recreation. They were taught how to sex a goose, cannon net animals, how to plank a fish and smoke it and how to figure board footage of an acre of forest by only measuring one-fifth of it.

The highlight of the trip was the OAS (outdoor adventure school) at the local scout's patrol completed a team course where one objective was to reach a 14 foot wall with only the help of 11 girls in the patrol and also a rope course. The group were given a challenge to climb several cliffs of 15 to 25 foot height. With a miner's helmet light, the rest of the day dwelling was spent crawling on their stomachs as they found the cave was infested with bats.

Each scout was given a map upon entering the cave and were to pick their own route as it was a patrol effort. When they did the daylight they re-examined the map and discovered they had probably taken the longest route.

Chris said, "During the OAS course my patrol became very close friends since we had to depend on each other."

The patrol took an 18-mile canoe trip on Kentucky Lake on a windy day and the day found they were still on the lake. After receiving instructions from a passing motor boat operator and the help of a spotlight they soon found a boy scout camp where they spent the night and paddled on the lake morning to Bear Creek where they were picked up. Other activities that the patrol enjoyed were a buffalo roast over hot coals, windsurfing, rappelling 75 foot cliffs on the lake, hiking the Blue Grey trails and visiting Fort Donelson in Dover, Tenn. They worked at Camp and mentally handicapped

Shower honors Mrs. Kinder

Mrs. Barbara Kinder was guest of honor at a baby shower given this week in the home of her great-aunt, Mrs. Edith Harris, 3052 Mockingbird Lane.

The decorating motif was carried out with pink and blue Teddy Bears. After the honoree opened her gifts refreshments were served by the hostess.

Guests attending included Mesdames Nadine LeGate, Eunice Sparks, Frances Brown, Delphine Kinder, Rosella Fuller, Carrie Fisher, Judith Lambert, Jo Ann Beyer and Maxine Fuller.

Also, Misses Zebaba Kinder, Lori Beyer, Annette Setzer, Cyndi Brown and Lea Lambert.

Mrs. Graves is honored

Seventeen members of the Twilight Class met in the fellowship hall of Mount Zion Baptist Church last week to honor Mrs. Gleola Graves on her 80th birthday and for a monthly business session.

A refreshment table was centered with a large birthday cake flanked by white vases holding arrangements of fresh flowers. Gifts and cards were presented to the honoree followed by a game session.

President Harriett Phelps conducted a business session as plans were discussed for the holiday season. Arrangements were also completed to change the meeting hour to a different time during the winter months.

A devotional lesson on "How to live life victoriously," was presented by Mrs. Graves.

The meeting closed with prayer at a singing led by Mrs. Mar Goodall.

St. Peter School open house set

St. Peter School for the Young Years, 2101 Cleveland Blvd., will host an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. in the fellowship hall of the church, on Sunday, Aug. 30.

Children and parents are invited to attend the social event to meet the teachers, Mrs. Lou Ann Hollis and Mrs. Darlene Bazzard, preschool committee members and tour the facility.

A few openings are still available for the 1981-82 school year. Tuesday Thursday classes are for children whose third birthday falls on or before Dec. 31, with sessions to start on Sept. 8. Monday-Wednesday Friday classes are for children whose fourth birthday is on or before Dec. 31, with classes to begin on Sept. 9.

Lioness Club set projects

The Pontoon Beach Lioness Club met last week and completed plans for several projects to take place in the near future.

They will serve as hostesses to the wives of the Lions District 1-G cabinet at Long Lake Fire Hall on Sunday, Aug. 30, as the initial event.

Preparations are underway for a rummage sale-bake-plant sale to take place on Saturday, Sept. 19, with all proceeds going to Eye Research in memory of the late Lioness Thelma Dean.

The group also discussed arrangements for the fourth annual Halloween parade set for Friday, Oct. 30, at Gaslight Plaza Shopping Center.

After the meeting, President Linda Schermer officiated at a memorial service for Mrs. Dean. Also attending the ceremony were Lion President Bob Barton, Lioness Liaison Bob Lipscomb, Lion George Goodwin and Lion Bob Durbin.

Brenda Harper dance chairman

Jack Buck, chairman of the Gateway Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, today named Brenda Harper, chairman of the CF Dance-A-Thon in Madison. She will be conducting the dance project for this fall to raise funds which will support research and care for children affected by cystic fibrosis, according to the chairman.

Cystic fibrosis is a fatal lung and digestive disease affected by one in every 1500 babies born in the United States. Both parents carry the recessive CF gene and one in 20 persons may be carriers, without knowing it. With continued research a test should be discovered to determine who the carriers of the CF gene are. At this point, 50 percent of the CF patients are living to enjoy their 16th birthday and beyond, due to improved therapy, Buck explained.

"Most people do not realize that by participating in the dance-a-thon, you can help these children who cannot take breathing for granted, and have a lot of fun while you are at it," the Madison chairman added.

Children's choir workshop Friday

A children's choir workshop will be conducted at Calvary Baptist Church, 300 Washington Ave., on Friday, Aug. 28, from 7 to 9 a.m. and Saturday, Aug. 29, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., according to an announcement by Steve Harter, music director at the host church.

Harter added that the workshop is on the subject of a graded children's choir program with Mrs. Beverly Goskie of Jackson, Mo., as guest coordinator.

"The graded choirs include, preschoolers three to five years; Music Makers, grades one through three, and Young Musicians, grades four through six."

For more information, those interested are advised to contact Harter at 877-0066.

The project is open to all churches, the music director said.

Former resident aids Cancer Fund

Bob Criss, 33-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Criss, 1733 Delmar Ave., participated in the American Cancer Society Super Stroll in Rapid City, Wyo. to collect funds for the society.

The fund raising project is called "A Tribute to Terry Fox," the young Canadian cancer victim who died recently but who had received worldwide attention by running across part of Canada despite having one artificial leg.

"I saw Terry on Real People and it really touched me," said Criss. "I'm doing this for Terry Fox and the American Cancer Society."

Criss went 25 miles the first day and admitted he was tired and sore by day's end. A friend, Mitch Allen of Rapid City, is accompanying Criss in a car.

The former resident resides in Newcastle, Wyo., and is employed as a carpenter there. He was among 300 participants who took part in the project. Criss had raised about $2,500 in pledges from Newcastle residents and people he encountered along the way.

A special gospel singing program will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 30, at Bethesda Baptist Church, 3035 Nameoki Drive, featuring "The Miracles" of Arnold, Mo.

The Rev. Luther Abbott announces there also will be other vocalists and the public is invited to attend the service.

Stricter law on students' immunization

Illinois' school districts may find it somewhat easier this year to meet the new higher compliance level for student immunizations after an "impressive effort" during the 1980-81 school year, the state says.

By law, must report at least 90 percent compliance with immunization and health examination requirements among students for the 1981-82 school year and each year thereafter, or have 10 percent of the state school aid withheld until the level is reached.

The minimum level was 80 percent for the 1980-81 year, and 93 percent of the districts reported they had surpassed that mark and already had at least 90 percent compliance.

State law requires that all children entering public and non-public schools be protected against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), measles and rubella either by vaccination or from having had the diseases.

The law also stipulates that students who are entering schools for the first time, and those who are beginning the fifth and ninth grades, must have physical examinations.

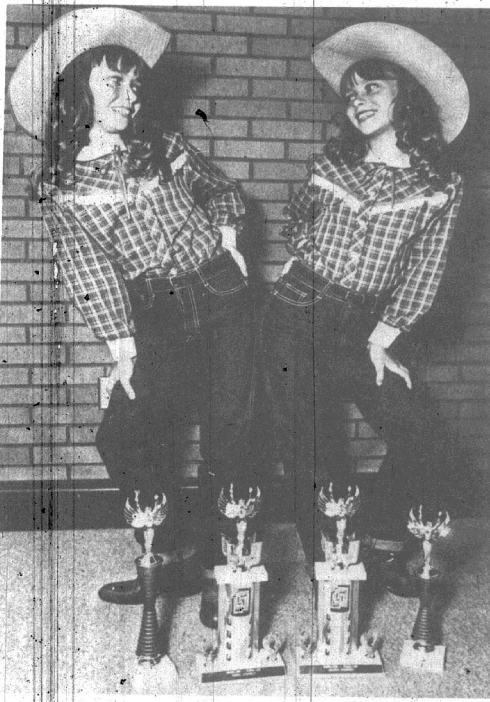

According to the Illinois Department of Public Health, 90 percent of children in Illinois need to be immunized against the six diseases in order to prevent epidemics.

"We're off to a fine start because everyone did a splendid job making sure students were protected during the 1980-81 school year," State Superintendent of Education Donald G. Gill says. "The job should be easier this year, but that does not make it less important."

"The cooperative spirit that has prevailed so far, among parents, schools and health officials, can continue to assure protection for our children from these major childhood diseases."

School districts are required each year to report their compliance levels on Oct. 15 to the State Board of Education.

STOP SIGN CHARGES
Pursuing a motorist at 10:50 p.m. Tuesday, police charged Christopher Schutzenhofer, 17, of 2138a Benton St., with passing Adams Street stop signs at 24th and 22nd streets.

DOUBLE EXPOSURE? Not really. Kerri, left, and Kristi Stavelly are twin sisters who captured the top award while modeling a well known brand of western-style clothing in St. Louis competition. Judging was on overall appearance, appearance in jeans, fashion sense, and personality. The event took place at a Children's Back-to-School Party at a St. Louis County store. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stavelly, 334 Harvard Place and are students at Niedrighaus. The local 11-year-old plan to continue modeling in both Illinois and Missouri during the ensuing year.

'Y' opens fall program Sept. 1

The Tri-City YMCA's fall program will move into high gear Sept. 1. Dave Femrite, executive director of the YMCA, announced today.

"We are hoping that everyone in the community with the exception of a family pet, will drop by the Y in the next few weeks to see what the Y has to offer them," he said.

"Never has the Y offered a greater range of programs," Femrite said. "There are plenty of the traditional programs that have brought millions of people into the Y since its founding over 130 years ago."

Among such traditional programs are swim instruction, basketball, basketball, and volleyball. Some of the informal educational courses are Macrae and Quilling.

A number of programs, however, are not traditional such as karate, aerobics, exercise classes for children, and bearing women. Classes are designed to meet changing interests and needs in the community. These new programs range from improvisational acting to women's racquetball leagues.

"After all the fun activities of summer, fall, and winter can be quite a let down for many people," Femrite said.

"We think the YMCA can be one answer to the fall and winter blues for just about everybody."

Information of YMCA programs and a schedule of events can be obtained at the YMCA at 2001 Edison Ave. or by calling (618) 876-7200.

Offer trip to Hermann, Mo.

The "5-Star Club" of Granite City Trust and Savings Bank is sponsoring a one-day trip to Hermann, Mo., Thursday, Sept. 10.

Due to the popularity of this event, a second bus was secured and only 15 reservations remain, according to a bank spokesman.

The cost of the trip is $12.25 for Gold Card members, $14.25 for regular members, and $16.95 for non-members.

Troop 7 holds second annual mini-summer camp

Scouts of Troop 7, St. Jean's Catholic Church, participated in a four-night camp out at Mick's Lake in St. Jacob, Ill.

Senior Patrol Leader Steve Kusmierczak, Joe J. Kusmierczak, Jeff Kittel, Eric Markovich, Karl Markovich, James Barron, Patrick Boyer, Mark Brazel, Mike Brazel, Donald Gray, Tim Szymczek, Norman Fulkerson, Frank Scaturro, and Kerry Martin attended.

During their stay, the scouts enjoyed swimming, fishing, boating, hiking, and various sporting events.

The patrols fulfilled various skill award requirements by forging scout trails, exhibiting distress signals, making a ground bed of grass and leaves and sleeping on it.

Each morning, the troop had an activity at the water front which featured basic swimming instructions and various types of water rescues. All scouts completed part of the Lifesaving merit badge requirements, removing of street clothes on shore in 20 seconds or less.

Scoutmaster for Troop 7 is Brother Robert Manzer.

Camping with the troop was Troop Committee Chairman Jeanne Bragdon and her husband, Larry Bragdon.

Carl Kittel joined the boys for the final afternoon's activities.

Transportation was provided by Karl Markovich, Carl Kittel, Ted Brazel, Jeanne Bragdon, Vic Szymczek, Joseph Barron, and Barbara Boyer.

Upcoming events for the troop are attending the Cardinal-Cub baseball game on Sept. 9 and hiking the 1900 World Fair Historical Trail Hike and attending the Great Forest Park Balloon Race on Sept. 19.

Fire marshal warns: Know your hotel.

Familiarity with the hotels you visit can save your life, the Office of the State Fire Marshal said in its newsletter released last week.

If there is a fire at a hotel where you are staying, your chances of survival increase with your knowledge of the hotel's escape routes, the article said.

"Familiarity with these areas becomes increasingly important as smoke from the fire fills hallways, obscures vision of exits and exit signs and contaminates the air with toxic gases," the article said.

Hotel fires have especially concerned the public since the recent blazes at the MGM Grand and Hilton Hotels in Las Vegas and the Stouffville Inn in Harrison, N.Y. Hotel fires in the past 10 years have killed 949 people, injured 2,645 and destroyed more than $177 million in property.

Former Southern Illinois University-Carbondale basketball coach Paul Lambert died in a 1978 hotel fire in Columbus, Ga. The article suggested the following steps be taken to survive a hotel fire:

Begin preparations right after you have settled into your room by finding at least two exits from the building. (Public Act 82-186, signed into law last week by Governor James Thompson requires a floor plan showing escape routes in every Illinois hotel room.) Once you have determined the exits' location, you should actually survey them to note how to exit from the building.

Never use elevators during a fire emergency. Heat-activated elevator controls could deliver the elevator car to the fire floor, or the elevator could stop between floors.

Inspect the locks on your room door. Practice unlocking the door with your eyes closed so that you will be able to do so in the dark or in thick smoke.

Learn the telephone number of the fire department. Then, if a fire does occur or if you smell smoke, call the fire department and tell the dispatcher what room you are in. Then call the desk clerk.

Before you open the door, feel the door and doorknob for heat. If either is hot, do not open the door. If neither is hot, brace your foot and hip against the door and open it slowly before peeking out. If it is not too smoky, go to the fire exit immediately. Remember, never use the elevators!

Always take your room key with you. You may want to get back into your room where it might be safer.

If you go into the halls or the stairwell, stay low, near the floor where the air is breathable. Crawl if necessary. Smoke in the stairwells is caused by people leaving the fire doors open. If the stairwell is too smoky going down, turn around and go to the roof. A fireman will be there to help you.

If you are forced to stay in your room, remain calm and do not panic. You are not helpless. Open the window if there is fresh air outside. Do not break it; if there is smoke outside, you will need to close the window.

Fill the bathtub with water. Soak towels and sheets and stuff them around the door. If the bathroom vent has a motor, turn it on. If not, block it with wet towels. Block all vents. Hang a sheet outside your window if possible to alert rescuers that your room is occupied.

If the door and walls are hot, bail water on them with an ice bucket. Keep everything wet. Swing a wet towel around the room to clear smoke. Put a wet cloth over your nose and mouth.

The Office of the State Fire Marshal Newsletter is distributed to nearly 1,300 fire departments statewide. It contains articles on the agency's progress and agency-related matters.

Potluck for Happy Group

Forty-four members of the Happy Group Senior Club met last week for a potluck dinner at the Granite City Township Center, 2060 Delmar Ave.

A chicken-and-dumplings meal was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Randall Irwin, with members providing side dishes and dessert.

Juanita Crawley, president, led the group in reciting The Lord's Prayer and pledge to the flag.

Pinochle and other games were played during the afternoon. Prizes were awarded to Dolores Hillis, Marie Toth, Evelyn Morgan and Ann Austin.

A business meeting was scheduled at the same location at 1:30 p.m. Sept. 3.

EQUIPMENT STOLEN
Frank Townsend's $365 mixer, amplifier and $225 microphone were stolen from Tri-City Park Tabernacle, 3400 Maryville Road, authorities were notified last week.

150 schools being closed each year in Illinois due to inflation and enrollment Illinois school districts, facing the dual dilemmas of declining enrollment and economic inflation, are finding varied ways to economize — including closing school buildings at a rate in excess of 150 a year.

During the 1980-81 school year, nearly 200 buildings in more than 130 districts outside Chicago were closed, partially closed or rented for some other purpose. The data was gathered by the State Board of Education's research and statistics section.

"Local school officials have had some tough decisions to make, and they deserve a lot of credit for taking steps to close schools to save money for their constituents," State Superintendent of Education Donald G. Gill said as the new school term began.

"No one likes to close a school, but circumstances call for action that will economize resources to best serve the educational needs of students."

More than 80 percent of Illinois school districts are experiencing an enrollment decline at this time.

In fact, total enrollment has dropped more than 15 percent since the 1971-72 school year, and the trend is expected to continue through the early 21st Century.

There are, however, slight increases projected in elementary enrollment from 1986 to 1993 and in high school enrollment from 1991 to 1999, as children of post-World War II "baby boom" families attend school.

As the overall number of students drops and inflation drives up the cost of education, district officials are taking a closer look at their long-range and short-range planning, according to Dr. Dean Mack, manager of the SBE's school organization and facilities section.

With the aid of staff from that section, school districts can analyze their enrollment, financial picture, and use of school facilities in order to assess their needs.

A district's historical enrollment patterns are studied and five-year projections are made, based on trends in live births and the district's rate of retaining students, Mack explained.

Revenue and expenditures are examined from the previous five years, along with the district's cost per pupil figures, assessed valuation and tax rates.

Mack said school buildings are studied to determine their adequacy in several areas, including traffic and safety factors, health and life safety standards, accessibility to the handicapped, cost effectiveness, proximity to population growth, and potential for alternative use.

More than 30 percent of present school buildings in Illinois are over 50 years old.

"Districts must take into consideration the costs of maintaining these facilities, as well as adapting them to meet educational changes down the road," he commented.

"We try to give the people in the district as much visual information as possible to graphically show the impact of the data."

"It's a service the agency offers to give districts objective information from which they may make decisions about their future needs."

Finance seminar set Sept. 8-10

A free seminar in "Finance and Accounting for Small Businesses" is scheduled Sept. 8-10 by the Center for Management Studies in the School of Business at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. James F. Miller, Jr., Center director, said small business managers will learn to improve internal control procedures by working with budgeting, cash flow, variance analysis and taxes. The three-day seminar is sponsored by the Metro-East Business Development Center and the Metro-East Conference of Bank Mayors.

Edward W. Small, a certified public accountant in Illinois and Missouri with 12 years experience in public accounting, including work for the "big eight," will instruct the classes. He is a lecturer in accounting at SIUE and Lewis & Clark Community College and has operated his own CPA firm since 1978.

Local legislators aided new drug, drunk driving law

It was appropriate that State Representative Sam Wolf and State Senator Sam Vadalabene, both of this district, were invited to be present at ceremonies Aug. 20 when a bill was signed into law to strengthen the fight against drunken and drugged driving. They were sponsors and among those chiefly responsible for its enactment.

A joint study by the Illinois State Medical Society, National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism and the Division of Alcoholism shows that the basic problem is extensive—"About 750,000 Illinoisans suffer serious health problems as a result of the use of legal and illegal intoxicants every year ($50,000 alcohol, 77,000 nicotine, 77,000 marijuana, 50,000 sedative hypnotics, 40,000 opiates and 1,150 amphetamines, hallucinogens, inhalants, PCP and cocaine).

"This figure doesn't include all health problems, but only those which become so serious as to be disabling, requiring the attendance of a physician.

"Almost everyone knows someone whose life has been changed because of alcohol, cigarette or drug use. There are more than 11 million people in Illinois. If each person with an alcohol or drug problem is related to three family members, about 3 million Illinoisans are affected by this problem each year—about one in four families."

Intoxication-related accidents and fires are not the only ill effects of alcohol and drugs, of course. Others include psychological or physical dependence, intoxication-related homicides and suicides, damage to unborn children, loss of work productivity, and rapid degeneration of brain cells.

But intoxication obviously add considerably to the severity of the accidental injury and death toll, creating a massive burden on society, financially and otherwise.

The law will eliminate the 90-minute waiting period for a suspect to decide whether to submit to a test for alcohol or drugs or both. It will increase the penalty for first refusal to take such a test from three to six months' suspension of a driver's license. A second refusal during a five-year period will bring a year's suspension, instead of a half-year. And in addition to the 40-minute breath test, blood and urine may also be tested by medical personnel to determine intoxication level.

The new law also requires the Illinois secretary of state to revoke the driving license or permit of any motorist for one year after that person has completed a sentence for rape, indecent liberties with a child, contributing to a child's sexual delinquency, indecent solicitation of a child, soliciting for a juvenile prostitute, and manufacture, sale or delivery of controlled (drug) substances.

As Secretary of State Jim Edgar commented at the ceremony, "This will change one of the weakest drug and drunk driving laws in the nation to one of the toughest."

Mandatory prison sentences for residential burglars

We hope the message comes out clear and loud—Illinois is going to send burglars to prison.

It has frequently been said that no one can understand how it feels to be the victim of a burglary until he returns home and finds his most precious possessions gone and the safety and security of his home violated.

Governor James Thompson, in signing legislation last week to require mandatory prison sentences for the commission of residential burglary effective Jan. 1, 1982, said, "It is difficult to ever again feel secure in your home once this has happened." He said would-be burglars now should think twice before committing the crime, due to stiffer penalties.

In Madison County, the Press-Record has long criticized the "first felony free" attitude of the courts. They have allowed literally hundreds of burglars to receive only probation in recent years.

Judges have contended that if they give a first-time burglar a prison sentence, the Appellate Court will overturn the sentence and set the burglar free, anyway. Talks with a former appellate judge confirmed that the court has tended to give first-time felons the benefit of the doubt, since prison sentences can be harmful to hopes of rehabilitation.

The "first felony free" rule, as police began calling it, was an indication that the pendulum had swung too far toward a lenient attitude regarding criminals, particularly at a time when most citizens are frightened by the possibility of violent crime and are hesitant to leave their homes unguarded for fear of burglary.

The state's new law prohibits judges from giving probation or conditional discharges (a form of probation without having to visit a probation officer) to those convicted of burglary, including first-time offenders. Instead, it calls for terms of from four to 15 years in prison.

We applaud the action and hope police, prosecutors and judges will follow the intent of the law, rather than making deals with burglars for lesser charges to avoid the mandatory prison sentences.

The intent of the law is clear. The majority of Illinois' citizens want burglars behind bars so their homes can be safe again.

Our impression is that "first time offender" usually means "first time caught"; many admit to having committed several burglaries before being caught. In the first half of 1981, there were 321 burglaries in Granite City alone (up 27 percent from a year earlier), and 51 arrests.

Justice varies from state to state. In the Deep South last week, the news contained an item that a man serving a life term in prison had escaped and was being sought.

The crime for which he was serving the life term was petty theft, an offense which usually carries probation and a small fine, at most, in Illinois.

We do not suggest that Illinois order life prison terms for those guilty of misdemeanors, but we do feel that burglary is a crime which has gotten out of hand.

Five hundred and seventy homes were burglarized in Granite City in 1980 and the figure is likely to exceed that this year. We are sure that many of the victims will join in urging all those in the law enforcement field to use this new and strong enforcement tool—mandatory sentences for home burglaries—to reduce the number of victims and to take the burglars off the streets.

Scouting helps girls grow, learn

To the Editor:

It's knowing you're needed and appreciated. It's teaching and learning, caring about what happens to young people, and helping girls grow and learn. It's real, it's fun, it's important. It's meeting and working with people you like, people from all walks of life, a chance to participate in national and international events, a chance to share your heritage with others. It's a challenge. It's being a Girl Scout leader.

Think of the possibilities. Girl Scouting is where you as an adult volunteer can develop your potential, learn new job skills, put your special talents to use and be a positive influence in girls' lives.

You are an important person. Whatever your age, experience, or education, you have something to offer. There are all kinds of volunteer positions in Girl Scouting. You can work directly with girls, or you can work indirectly for girls. Every job counts. It depends on what suits you and how much time you can give.

No matter what you decide to do, you will help. You will have the backing of the world's largest voluntary organization for girls ages six through 17. You will be part of a world-wide family of girls and adults in more than 90 countries. A world of opportunities will be open to you. You'll have a share in the future. You'll help ready girls for today's and tomorrow's world.

In short, you'll see how valuable one person can be—how you can be that person girls can look up to, a volunteer in Girl Scouting. At least 18 years of age and would like to help, they may call 288-2286, 254-0983, 345-1006 or 632-6434.

Urges unions to help United Way in drive

To the Editor:

People joining together to help each other—neighbor to neighbor, friend to friend—is a unique American tradition.

Today, we are being called upon to honor and continue that tradition during the times of double digit inflation, proposed cutbacks in federal social programs and increasing prices for basic necessities. It is reassuring to know that United Ways and their agencies, whose strength comes from America's tradition of volunteerism, are available to aid us through these difficult days.

I know that in order for United Ways to continue their important work, union members must continue their support. I am proud to endorse the upcoming United Way campaign and am confident that support by union members will help make it a success.

Children tour medical center

UNUSUAL EXPERIENCE. Students in the pre-school through first grade classes at the Tri-City Park Tabernacle's Child Development Center were given a tour of the St. Elizabeth Medical Center to see a side of the medical center few children ever experience. The next generation of potential health care professionals were taken through the laboratory, x-ray and pediatrics departments by Kathy Martin of the public relations staff. Diana Linsley, also of the public relations department, took the accompanying photos of the children. During the tour, the children were given doctor and nurse hats to wear and SEMC tourist buttons and balloons.

Board member says Madison schools fail to give education

To the Editor:

Taxpayers and parents in Madison School District 12 should be up in arms!

The Madison District 12 Board of Education has once again continued its great "give-away" of the taxpayers' money. This year it has voted to grant its teachers a 9 percent pay raise. Last year it was a 16 percent pay raise. (A total of 25 percent in just two years!)

At the rate the board is giving away the taxpayers' money, the salaries of administrators, teachers and other district personnel, will double in just eight years. The tragedy is that the Madison Board votes for without one bit of testimony being presented, or without evidence of any kind being presented that there has been any improvement in the educational quality of the district or its students.

Students in the high school and the middle school consistently score lower on standard achievement tests than the norm or when compared with students of similar districts. Almost half of the graduating class of the district's high school cannot read above a fourth-grade level, and some can hardly read at all.

The North Central Association has been leveling very serious charges about the classroom instruction, the curriculum, and the quality of the administration for the past six years and yet nothing has been done to correct the existence of these very serious problems.

Education is supposed to be the primary reason for the existence of the School District. But money which should be used for much-needed improvements in the quality of education is being spent to pacify and fatten the pockets of administrators and teachers.

The superintendent of schools, who recommends these raises to the board and usually receives the same raises as the teachers, will, in just two years, receive more money in raises alone than most families in the district receive in total income each year.

Teachers constantly complain about lack of textbooks, poor classroom conditions, poor curriculum, and many other problems. Yet, when presented with a fat pay raise, the dissent is quieted.

Who suffers? The taxpayers, of course, because their tax dollars are being wasted. But, more than anybody, the children themselves, who are duped into thinking that because the District puts a diploma into their hand, that the district has also equipped them with the necessary skills to move upward and onward. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Children in the Madison School District who succeed would probably have done so even if they had not seen the Madison District!

The time has come for taxpayers and parents to focus their attention on the Madison School District and demand something better for their kids and their tax dollars!

I will publicly debate any school official concerning the "state" of the Madison School District. The statements I have made in this letter only touch the "tip" of the "iceberg." There is much more!

Labor talks set back to GC athletes

Practices are disrupted

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Strike. To some a dirty word. To others, the only hope of bettering their own situation.

A labor strike in the end hurts everybody associated with it in some way. But a teacher's strike hurts one group a little more than the others — the students.

Student athletes in Granite City may have already been hurt, even though a strike hasn't yet officially been called. That's because of practice sessions that have been scheduled, postponed, called off and rescheduled.

"It's a shame," said South head football coach Jerry McKechnan Tuesday. "There are seven or eight key people missing from this practice because we couldn't get ahold of them in time to tell them about practice."

Tuesday's practice sessions in football, soccer, volleyball, girls tennis, cross country and golf were originally called off because the first day of school in the district was moved from Tuesday to Wednesday and then to Thursday. "We were told that there will not be practice," said Granite City North head soccer coach Bob Kehoe. "I received a phone call and was told that we could not hold practice."

But that was early Tuesday morning. Shortly after noon Tuesday, coaches were notified by the school board that practices could indeed be held. Since it was no longer an official school day, the teachers weren't walking out and it was as pre-season practice was still in session.

"We got a call a little after 12 and told to go ahead with our practice," said South head soccer coach Gene Baker. "We were able to reach most of our guys. There are a few underclassmen missing. But we have a pretty good system of notifying our players by telephone."

McKechnan, who is starting his first season as head football coach at South, was troubled. "The students are the ones who get hurt. We couldn't get some of them today to tell them about practice. They're not here. We don't have enough guys here to work on much. We can't scrimmage. We can't even start on new things. There's no way with so many players missing. If we started something new, we'd have half the team so far behind when we get started again."

When they get started again? Just when might that be? If teachers failed to report to school this morning and students are returned home, there can be no practice because it's now an official school day.

According to North's Kehoe, the labor problems can affect a high school soccer team a great deal. "There's just not enough practice time before the first game as it is in the first place," he said. "But that's my old gripe with the IHSAA (Illinois High School Association)."

"But with practice being called off like this, you can't get any momentum going in your program."

According to McKechnan, conditioning is also affected. "Some of our players are really out of breath at times they shouldn't be at this stage," he said.

But most of the athletes aren't in bad shape anyway. "These are athletes," said Kehoe. "They're 16-year old athletes. They don't get out of condition if they play sports year-round, which most of them do."

"But there's a different type of conditioning for soccer. There's a constant sprinting, stopping, changing directions. They have to get used to it. They have to build up to it. And without a regular practice schedule, they can't."

"But it's not their fault."

Another problem with the situation is how far behind the other area schools it puts Granite City's teams. "Hell, Belleville East is going two-a-days all week," said McKechnan. "They're already ahead of us."

North's first soccer game is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 29 at home against Quincy. "But we'll have to be in school all day Friday for us to play it," said Kehoe. "Otherwise, we'll either have to forfeit or reschedule it. That will be up to Quincy, since they're the ones making the trip down here for the game."

South's first soccer game is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 1 at Lebanon. North's first football game is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 11 at home against Roxana. South will play its first game Sept. 12 at Belleville East. According to IHSAA rules, football teams must have completed a minimum of 1½ hours of actual field practice on 14 days excluding Sunday before they can play their first games. A teacher's strike would definitely endanger the Granite City schools' first games.

It's a shame for the players

By PETE HAYES

Sports Editor of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — It's a darn shame. But it's a fact of life that Granite City's young male and female athletes will have to accept, this teachers' labor problem in Steel Town.

Of all youngsters, Granite City's youth more than most around this area probably are aware of what is involved in labor negotiations. After all, this is an industrial community. Mostly hard working people.

A union town. So perhaps, they can understand a little better why they can't go out and practice like the rest of the schools in the area. They know that no one really wins in a strike.

Maybe a strike will be averted. But it's still a shame that so many talented athletes in football, tennis, soccer, golf, volleyball and cross country have to have their seasons jeopardized like this.

In a way, it puts athletics in perspective, you know. It's not the coaches who are having negotiation problems as coaches. The negotiations aren't with them as coaches. The negotiations are with them as teachers.

No one's to blame. Everybody's to blame. It's a Catch-22 situation. You just can't win for losing. If the negotiations go well and a settlement is reached within a few days, the golf, tennis and cross country teams most likely will not be overly affected. They are individual sports that players can practice on their own. Most golfers, tennis players and hitters work out on their own. They can play their sports without anybody else, except for tennis which needs one other partner.

But soccer and football are team sports. You just don't work out on your own. At least not so that it does any good. You can't have a team scrimmage. You can't go over new pass plays. Your coach can't show you that latest defense.

Commentary

In Granite City, the two soccer teams probably don't have as much to worry about as the football teams. The players can get together on their own and work out.

Former players who have gone on to college or are now out on their own can help out in the absence of the regular coaches. Granite City is so far ahead of the rest of the state in soccer that a strike probably wouldn't hurt them that much.

But football's another story indeed. You HAVE to have the rest of the team there. A quarterback can work on his dropback all day, but he has to have somebody there to throw the ball to eventually. A guard can work on blocking against a dummy or a sled all day, but it helps to go against somebody who'll push back.

And Granite City is at an interesting point in its football history. North is

Cougars fall in OT to British 4-3

Special to the Press-Record.

EDWARDSVILLE — The SIU-Edwardsville soccer Cougars dropped a 4-3 overtime decision to the British Select Team here last night in the team's season opener in the Cougar Invitational at Cougar Field.

The score was tied 2-2 at the end of regulation play. The British team scored two goals in the overtimes before SIU-E got on the board with the final goal of the game.

In the other game last night, the University of Akron defeated The Unicorns 1-0.

The Cougars came from two goals behind to tie the game in the second half. Goals by John McDermott and Steve French had given the Britons a two-goal lead. But freshman Sean McQueeny got SIU-E within one with a goal at 64:02. Tom Goark got the assist.

Bill Stallings scored the tying goal for the Cougars at 84:11 off an assist from Bruce Bellingier. The goal came from directly in front of the goal out of a jumble of players.

The Cougars had a chance to win the game in regulation, but Tim Loughman hit the ball over an open net with 6:33 remaining.

In the first two 10 minute overtimes, McDermott gave the British the lead for good at 4:57 when he knocked in a rebound off Cougar goalie Mark Downar. The Britons scored their last goal at 12:47 in the second overtime when French scored an unassisted goal.

SIU-E's last goal came with 4:55 remaining. Dan O'Keefe scored unassisted.

FIRST ACTION. SIU-Edwardsville goalie Mark Downar watches as his teammates clear the ball out of the goal area last night in the Cougars' 4-3 overtime loss to the British Select Team in the first round of the SIU-Tournament at Cougar Field.

South spikers have toughest schedule ever

GRANITE CITY—Most of the familiar names are gone now, Chris Boyd, Nita Graham, Susan Jeffries. Gone from last season's Granite City South volleyball team, one of the most successful in the school's history.

It's a rebuilding year, according to South head coach Wilma Schulze. But it will be an interesting one. In addition to having to find new people for most of the key positions on the team, Schulze will also face the toughest schedule—and the biggest—ever played by the Warriors.

Added to the South spikers' schedule is the prestigious Carbondale Invitational Tournament at the SIU Arena Sept. 5. "We've been invited to play there before," said Schulze. "But we couldn't because our season didn't get started until later in September. But the School Board has allowed us to start earlier this year. We can get more games in and the rest of the teams won't be ahead of us in playing time anymore."

But Schulze has some problems with the Carbondale Tournament. "I hope we don't go down there and do badly," she laughed. "We've got so many inexperienced players this season. But it'll be a good learning experience for the girls. A lot of them don't really know what a good volleyball player's supposed to do."

"They don't get the exposure to volleyball in Granite City like they do in other areas. Big brother doesn't play volleyball, he plays soccer or football. They don't see it on TV or read about it in magazines."

"Santa Claus never brings anybody in Granite City a volleyball."

When Schulze welcomed her team to practice last week, there was only one starter from last season's team. Julie DeRuntz, who showed glimpses of brilliance last year on the Warriors' regional championship team, will get a chance this season to spread her wings. "I think the rest of the younger girls will look

Kinser takes T-C Sprint race

By JEFF EAVES
For the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY, Ill.—The reigning king of the Outlaws, Steve Kinser of Bloomington, Ind., won the 10-lap B Feature over Danny Frye Jr., of St. Charles, Mo. Tim Green of Carmichael, Calif., and Gary White of Marion, Ill.,

Samy Swindell was the fastest qualifier over the half mile with a 19.875 seconds. Regular racing for the limited late model stock cars and the street stocks will continue this coming Saturday night beginning at 8:00.

SATURDAY
Samy Swindell of Bartlett, Tenn., opened the third annual Illinois sprint car Nationals on a winning note as he won the opening night

When the green flag came out Schrader jumped out to a straightaway lead when on lap 23 Schrader's right rear tire went flat putting Schrader out of the race.

Kinser, who was running second at the time inherited the lead and won the 30-lap feature and became $2100.00 richer. The victory for Kinser made him the new 1981 Illinois National Champion.

Kinser was followed at the finish by Danny Smith, Lealand McSpadden of Tempe, Ariz., Samy Swindell of Bartlett, Tenn., Chuck Amati of Freeman Spur, Ill., Eddie Polch of Greer, S.C., Mont. Tim Gee of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and Tod Bishop of Harrisburg, Ill.

Steve Kinser won the first heat over Lealand McSpadden, Jon Backlund of K.C., Kans., and Bob Thomas of Higginsville, Mo.

Danny Smith won the second heat over Eddie Polch, Bobby Davis Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., and Kenny Schrader. Samy Swindell won the third and final heat coming off one of its best seasons in history (7-1).

South is coming off one of its worst (0-9). South is trying to put the pieces back together under the direction of an enthusiastic new coach, Jerry McKeehan.

McKeehan has already said his team is behind the point in should have normally been at this juncture of the season. If things are delayed much more, it'll be just that harder to put things together.

It's a shame.

Cougars have good defense

EDWARDSVILLE — Talk to any collegiate coach about an upcoming season and they will inevitably point out the key ingredients to a successful season — defense, offense, enthusiasm, several outstanding recruits and even a little luck.

For Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Head Field Hockey Coach Diana Hedrick, 1981 could be the year coaches dream about during those long pre-season workouts. With 11 letter-winners returning from last year's national qualifying team, two top-rated recruits and one of the stingiest defensive units in the region, it's 1981 Cougars will jump into one of their toughest schedules ever Sept. 8, when they battle Principia College in the season-opener.

As with most good teams, defense is the key to victory. For the 1981 Cougars, defense will come in the form of such outstanding returning players as Jan Baumberger (goalie), Terri Lamb (fullback), Becky Kolesa (fullback) and newcomer Sandy Gerstenecker (fullback).

Baumberger, a senior from Granite City, appears to have the inside track at the starting goalie position although Becky Saylor and Beth Roth will make a strong challenge. Kolesa, a sophomore from Edwardsville, should receive the starting berth at left fullback while the right side will be a two-way battle between Gerstenecker and Lamb.

Upfield, Cougars' center halfback Maggie Dyer of Edwardsville appears to be the anchor for the trio of midfielders, Tina Greer, a sophomore from Edwardsville, is expected to fill in as the right side fullback while Kathy Byrne of Mascoutah, Ill. will play the left side.

Gerstenecker, although listed as a fullback, could also see action as a halfback because of her outstanding stickwork and speed. One of only a couple of question marks Coach Hedrick will have to solve before their opening engagement at Principia College will be how to replace high-scoring Amy Frey and her 30-goal performance of last year on the front line.

Pat Alemond, a senior from Highland, Ill., who scored 10 goals and collected 11 assists last year, may be just what the Cougars need to provide a potent scoring attack in 1981. Alemond, who was the only player on the 1980 team to see action in all 22 games, is expected to get the starting nod at center forward. Laura McKee, a junior from Granite City, looks like the leading candidate at left inner while the starting left wing position should be filled by freshman Deanna Eggs, also of Granite City. On the right side of the forward line, Terri Lamb, while not playing fullback, will probably be at the inner position and Patty Sussen, a senior from Edwardsville, will anchor the swing.

With the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women National Tournament field being reduced from 16 to eight teams in 1981, the Cougars will face an even stiffer challenge earning their third consecutive trip to the annual post-season spectacular. To qualify for the National Championship Tournament, a team must first win the Regional Championship, which for the Cougars will be

Small businesses redefined

Governor James R. Thompson has announced he has approved a bill to help small businesses by redefining what constitutes a "small business."

Senate Bill 836 raises the maximum volume of annual sales for eligibility as a small business from $2.5 million to $7.5 million for a wholesaler, from $500,000 to $1.5 million for a retailer and from $300,000 to $3 million for a construction business.

"Inflation has had the effect of pushing many small businesses out of the category of small business. This has meant that some small businesses are no longer eligible to participate in the State's business purchasing program, even though their sales volumes remain unchanged in real dollars," the governor said. "This bill will bring the definition back in line with current inflation levels."

The legislation, which becomes effective immediately, makes the first changes in the maximum dollar amounts since 1972. It was sponsored by Senator Roger Keis, Wilmette, and Representative Craig Findley, Virginia.

In other bill action, Thompson approved: Senate Bill 717, which provides that in the case of a disputed deduction from an employee's wages, the acceptance of those wages by the employee does not constitute a release of the balance of the employee's claim.

The bill was sponsored by Senator Jeremiah Joyce and Representative Larry Bullock, both of Chicago.

Senate Bill 98, which authorizes the Department of Transportation to adopt rules and regulations concerning the securing of steel coils and other objects on flatbed trucks so they will not fall off.

The measure allows IDOT to prohibit unsafe hauling practices by in-state carriers of coiled steel through adoption of federal rules that currently regulate interstate carriers.

The bill was sponsored by Senator Glenn Dawson and Representative Frank Ciglio, both of Chicago.

Senate Bill 211, which changes the procedure for the substitution of generic drugs by a physician. Doctors would be required to use their own handwriting in stating whether a generic drug may or may not be substituted for brand-name drugs, rather than being able to have pre-printed forms or using stamps.

The measure was sponsored by Senator Dawn Netch and Representative Elroy Bullock, both of Chicago.

Senate Bill 925, which allows the Board of Higher Education to take into account whether a school's nursing program is located in a certified nurse shortage area when allocating grants under the Health Services Education Grant Act. The Department of Health would determine where there is a shortage of nurses in the state.

The bill was sponsored by Senator Art Berman and Representative Bullock, both of Chicago.

House Bill 1578, which provides a referendum procedure for counties under 1 million in population to remove the Board of Assessors and replace it with one elected County Assessor. (The only Board of Assessors in the State is in St. Clair County.)

Under the bill, anyone seeking the office of County Assessor would have to be certified by the County Clerk as having at least two years of experience in real estate sales, assessments, finance or appraisals. The measure calls for a four-year term with the same powers, duties and functions as the current board.

The bill, which takes effect immediately, was sponsored by Representative Monroe Flinn, Cahokia and Senator Kenneth Hall, East St. Louis.

Thompson also amendatory vetoed Senate Bill 300, which revises portions of the state's bankruptcy law.

The governor approved language that expands several exemptions for those declaring bankruptcy. It allows individuals, not just heads of households, to claim an exemption on the homestead; expands the definition of homestead to include condominiums, mobile homes, etc., and eliminates the flat personal property exemption for individuals and households and replaces it with more specific exemptions for certain items.

It also decreases the maximum homestead exemption from $10,000 to $7,500, which could be offset by the expansion of the exemption to individuals. Thompson, who called last year for revisions in Illinois law, asked the Legislature to make specific changes regarding liens and pension plans in his amendatory veto message.

The legislation was sponsored by Senator Stanley Weaver, Champaign and Representative Frank Watson, Greenville.

EFFECTIVE TEACHING was one of many objectives of parochial teachers who met last week at St. Margaret Mary School under a Title IV-C federal grant program. The STET (Systematic Training for Effective Teaching) program promotes a democratic classroom where choices are clear, discipline is logical and self-discipline is encouraged. The $5,676 grant will provide 26 hours of teacher training from now through January 31, 1982. The faculty members of the host school discuss motivational and discipline problems during the two-day workshop. (Photo: Record Photo)

Apples big, flavorful and ready for picking

By CHRIS DOLL

Area Garden Viser School days and the cooler days of September will signal the time for apple harvest. In southwestern Illinois, apple maturity is right on schedule this year.

This means fair color and flavor development of Jonathans by Labor Day and good maturity of the major varieties by mid-to late September.

The 1981 apple crop in this area is of good size and quality. Adequate rainfall and cooler temperatures helped the apples grow big and flavorful.

Gardeners can pick fruit at optimum maturity for best flavor. Local growers that sell pick-your-own or picked fruit try to market fruit in the best condition.

The time for harvest is based on the condition and maturity of the fruit. The first indication of harvest time is when normally, unblemished fruit begins to drop. Wormy and diseased fruits usually fall first.

Then, check to see if the flesh color has turned from green to yellow-green as noted by the bottom end of the fruit. The taste test should indicate some sugar content rather than starchiness.

Red apples should have good skin color.

But just because the skin is red doesn't mean the apple is mature. There are red color sports of major varieties that color early but mature at a normal time. When they are picked before they reach proper maturity, flavor will be lacking and full quality will never develop.

When all the maturity signs are present, the apple should pick easily with the stem attached to the fruit. This is done by rolling or twisting the apple away from the fruit spur.

If apples are paired or clustered, grasp both or all of the fruits with the other hand, while twisting off the first one. Avoid breakage of the fruit spurs and branches in the trees, as this will reduce yields in subsequent years. Picked fruits should be gently placed in a container, and handled carefully thereafter to avoid bruising.

Harvested apples should be kept cold for retention of flavor and quality. When stored at 35-45 degrees F., apples change very little. At 40, the fruits ripen slowly, and at 60 degrees or higher, maturation proceeds rapidly.

Thus, a refrigerator or a neighbor's cold storage is the ideal storage. The second choice is a good cave. Anything less than these should be short-term storage only.

In caves or basements, apples should be placed in a nearly air-tight container. Plastic bags may be used, but constant inspection for excessive moisture and fruit rotting is needed.

Plastic bags are an excellent container for holding apples in refrigerators. They should either be perforated slightly or folded loosely to permit a little moisture to escape.

Open boxes or baskets permit moisture loss from the fruit and lower the quality.

YOUTH HELPS POLICE

Venice police, assisted by Neil Mize, 17, of 209 Granville St., Venice, extinguished a fire at 712 Second St., Venice, and believed to have been set. A screen was found torn off a window and a two gallon gasoline can was found in the kitchen area of the house which is owned by Joe Marsala. No estimate of damage has been made. An arson investigation is being made.

NAMED IN WARRANTS

James E. Hotz, 47, of 2018 Grand Ave. was booked by police last week on warrants alleging battery and aggravated assault.

Sales tax reduced on graphic arts machinery

Governor James R. Thompson announced Monday he has approved portions of a bill that provide a sales tax break for the purchase of distillation equipment to make fuel alcohol for personal use and for graphic arts production machinery.

Thompson used his mandatory veto powers to make a change in Senate Bill 257. The change suggested by Thompson involves removing a confusing word. The bill provides a phased-in state and local sales tax exemption for machinery purchased for graphic arts production as well as a complete sales tax exemption for distillation equipment and machinery used to make fuel alcohol for the personal use of the owners.

Thompson said graphic arts machinery was not specifically included in the original machinery and equipment tax exemption approved by the Legislature. "Its inclusion recognizes the importance of the printing industry to be fiscal health of the state," Thompson said in his amendatory veto message. "It is my hope that this legislation will encourage this expanding industry to provide still more jobs for Illinois citizens."

The distillation equipment exemption, he said, will provide an incentive for the production and use of alcohol fuel, particularly on Illinois farms.

"Not only will this exemption encourage fuel conservation, but it will represent a significant dollar savings for Illinois farmers producing fuel alcohol," he said.

The bill was sponsored by Senator John Davidson, Springfield, and Representative Josephine Oblinger, Sherman.

Horse show to benefit EOC

The Madison County Trailblazers of Edwardsville will sponsor a benefit horse show Sept. 20, 1981 at the Trailblazers Arena in Edwardsville.

Money raised by the show will be donated to Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission to support services for low income families throughout the county.

"This type of local support is very important to us," said Debbie Groeteka of the EOC staff. "We're very happy that the club agreed to sponsor the show." Last year's show, also sponsored by the Trailblazers, was a great success. We're really looking forward to this one.

Show participants will pay a $5.00 entry fee which will cover entry for any or all events. Spectators will pay a 75-cent admission charge at the gate. Advance tickets will be sold by EOC staff members.

For additional information interested persons may contact Debbie Groeteka at 466-0900 or Wanda Kidd at 288-7100.

THE GRANITE CITY FEDERATION OF TEACHERS POSITION

The School Board (District No. 9) has indicated that it can only pay teachers a 7.9% raise in 1981. The teachers cannot live with that. The projected cost of living increase for 1981 is already 9.5%.

The district complains that it cannot afford greater raises. But teachers cannot rely on these representations because—

1. Here's what the Board's auditor says about the district.

2. Here's what the Board's budgets in past years have stated — compared to what actually happened.

REVENUES
YEAR	BUDGET	ACTUAL	DIFFERENCE
1977-78	$17,557,540	$17,901,445	$ 343,905
1978-79	$18,198,865	$19,170,609	$ 971,744
1979-80	$19,879,206	$21,266,189	$1,386,983
1980-81	There is no audit available for 1980-81

EXPENDITURES
YEAR	BUDGET	ACTUAL	DIFFERENCE
1977-78	$19,343,068	$18,594,188	$ 748,880
1978-79	$21,411,941	$19,569,042	$1,842,899
1979-80	$20,721,059	$20,072,967	$ 648,092
1980-81	There is no audit available for 1980-81

The Board's own financial documents for 1981 show that the district is in better financial condition now than it was in 1979-80 when it paid teachers raises of $1,325,337. When the Board misstated the number of teachers it was hiring, the teachers had to sue to obtain monies due. The Madison County Court ruled in favor of the teachers.

Now the Board is offering teachers $300,000 less in raises than in 1979-80. Teachers cannot understand this. There are funds available.

To break the present negotiation deadlock, teachers have offered to submit all issues of this dispute to Advisory Arbitration so that an independent judgment can be made as to whether the Board is being fair.

Heavy absenteeism at treatment plant

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Financially-strained Granite Cityans are getting less service than they deserve for their governmental dollars due to an extreme volume of absenteeism at the city's regional wastewater primary/secondary treatment plant, several aldermen believe.

Most vocal of the critics is Alderman Warren Decatur, who alleges that numerous absences go unpenalized and that some even go unrecorded, due to the contends—cards being punched in time clocks by some workers for others.

The staff is either unusually sickly and injury-prone, or some employees are taking advantage of sick leave time by failing to report on occasions when they are capable of performing their duties, Decatur is convinced.

The City Council last week agreed to reduce the treatment plant staff from 30 (31 two years ago) to 26, rather than slashing it to 24. In return, Operating Engineers agreed to one-man staffing instead of two men on weekend and holiday shifts, and all overtime and compensatory time decisions will be made by the plant superintendent.

In 1979, the staff was absent 332 days, consisting of 251 sick leave days and 81 other days. (Sick leave—30 days hospitalization and convalescence, 22 days documented as involving verified sickness, and 190 days undocumented. Other days—68 days absent because of on-duty injuries that can lead to workers' compensation payments, 13 days due to deaths in families, and nine days of absence for jury duty.)

For 1980, absence statistics total 448, including 373 sick leave days and 75 other days. (Sick leave—131 hospitalization and convalescence, 97 documented sickness, and 145 days undocumented. Other days—45 days from being injured while on duty, nine days due to deaths in families, and 21 days of jury duty.)

In 1981, through Aug. 12, the staff was absent 385 days, consisting of 271 sick leave days and 114 other days. (Sick leave—79 hospital and convalescence, 73 documented, and 101 days undocumented. Other days—89 from on-duty injuries, 14 because of deaths in families, and 11 days due to serving on juries.)

Everyone on the staff has been absent at least one day so far this year. This was also the case last year.

In 1979, one of the employees was on the job every day he was scheduled. The dozen individuals with the largest number of days of absence since January 1979 were not present on an aggregate of 618 days—an average of 68 days of absence by each of the 12 during the times they were scheduled to work in the two years and seven and a half months.

Employee A was absent 100 days—37, 23 and 40 in 1979-80-81.

B was not at work on 84 workdays—10, 21 and 63, in the same order.

Employee C was gone 91 days—18, 58 and 15. D was absent 87 days—four, 19 and 64. E, 72 days—16, 44 and 12.

F was absent 64 days—44, nine and 11. G, 59 days—11, 38 and 10. H, 58 days—19, 27 and 16. Employee I was absent 50 days—23, 28 and 19.

J did not report on 49 workdays—33, 12 and four. K, 49 days—17, 22 and nine. And, rounding out the dozen, Employee L was absent 46 days—14 two years ago, 21 last year and 11 days so far this year.

Of the weekday employees who had Saturdays and Sundays as their normal days away from work in 1979, one who missed a total of nine days of sick leave was gone three Fridays, his most frequent day of absence.

Another who was off 18 days due to illness that year was absent five Thursdays and six Fridays. A worker's 17 missed days included six Mondays and five Fridays. Another man's 14 absent days included five Mondays and three Fridays; one's eight missed days included four Fridays.

Also in 1979, a worker who was normally off each Thursday and Friday was absent 21 other days on account of sickness, including Wednesday, two Saturdays and three Sundays. An employee whose days off were Monday and Tuesday was away 12 sick days, including five Wednesdays.

In 1980, those on a Monday-to-Friday schedule at the treatment plant included a man absent 38 days because of illness, of which 10 were Fridays and seven were Mondays. One ill for 35 days was off 12 Fridays and eight Mondays that year.

An employee's seven missed days due to sickness included four Fridays. Another's nine days included three Fridays. One's six days included two Fridays; a man's 21 missed days, four Fridays and six Mondays; another's three days, two Fridays, and a worker's six days, three Fridays.

Also in 1980, a Wednesday-through-Sunday employee missed 10 workdays because of sickness, including three Sundays. A man on an identical shift was gone 12 days, of which four were Wednesdays.

A worker with Thursday and Friday as his normal days off had five days of sickness, including two Wednesdays.

Records for 1981 on regular weekday employees list one with eight missed days because of sickness, including four Thursdays and three Fridays; eight days, three Mondays; four days, two Mondays; three days, two Fridays; and seven days, two Fridays.

A worker normally away each Thursday and Friday was absent 11 other days for reasons of illness, including two Saturdays, two Sundays and four Mondays. And an employee usually off on Wednesday and Thursday has missed eight days thus far this year on account of sickness, including two Fridays, a Saturday and three Sundays.

Sick days lacking documentation were numerous, as indicated by the staff's totals for each year.

For example, in 1979, all eight of one worker's sick days were without documentation; seven of another's nine sick days were undocumented; seven of seven; five of five; four of five; 15 of 18; 17 of 17; all 14 undocumented; all 14 for another worker; 12 of 12; and 15 undocumented out of one man's 21 sick days.

The pattern continued in 1980: seven of seven days; five of nine; six of 12; five of five; three of three; two of two; one and a half of one and a half; three of four; four of six; seven of seven; six of six; four of five; seven of seven; six of six; eight of 13; and eight undocumented days out of ten days of sickness.

This year, there were four of four days; seven of ten; four of four; three of three; another three of three; seven of nine; seven of 13; five of five; six of 11; seven of 11; and eight out of eight. In many other cases, hospitalization and convalescence were reported—29 days for one man in 1979, periods of 45, 38 and 34 days for three of the employees last year, and a 62-day hospitalization this year.

Attrition over the past several years has totaled one death, one illness and one retirement; along with layoffs, the staff is down to 26 from 30.

A point made by Alderman Decatur at last week's City Council session is that the budget adopted for 1981-82 fiscal year now unduly will allow only for 24 employees, not the 26 being retained.

Terry McMillan, superintendent of the treatment plant, disputed this at the meeting but acknowledged Friday that the budgeted staff is 24. He apologized to Decatur for disagreeing with the alderman's recollection.

To offset the budget difference of $56,000—consisting of yearly costs of $28,000 for each of two employees, 26 compared to 24—the city hopes to save $33,000 annually through less weekend and holiday manning, and $15,000 in overtime reductions.

Decatur agreed Friday that a $168,000 cutting goal related to trimming the treatment plant staff by six, from 30 to 24. With 26 now working, $12,000 has been saved, plus the $33,000 and $15,000, for a total saving of $160,000.

However, treatment plant finances are still not "out of the woods," in Decatur's opinion. He said there are numerous overdue bills, jeopardizing some of the plant's supply sources.

The alderman said the city's current cash flow report shows that the treatment plant owes the city $120,000 and $155,500 and that it owes another fund $30,800.

In addition, during last week's council meeting $186,765 was transferred from the general fund to the treatment plant fund, prompting Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman to describe the situation as "nauseous."

Schuman said, "There are a lot of good people and good workers at the treatment plant. You know who you are. There are also some bad people there, and they know who they are."

Alderman Mac Warfield complained about the amount of absenteeism including Monday and Friday absences. He asked that the treatment staff be encouraged to reduce its absences on scheduled workdays.

Alderman Casner Skubish agreed with Warfield and urged all city employees to have a spirit of compromise and cooperation in reducing costs to the level of funds available to the municipality.

Decatur told the Press-Record he is concerned about the amount of sickness, absent treatment plant workers who fail to provide documentation. He stressed that doctor reports should be submitted each week by filing employees.

He also said the city needs to establish some type of financial penalty to encourage regular attendance at work, such as "docking" of pay for the first three days or the first seven days of an illness.

"At present, those who fail to report for work escape any financial loss," Decatur said.

One of three candidates for the office of mayor in the April 7 election, Alderman Decatur alleged that 11 treatment plant workers reported they were sick on that election day.

The alderman voiced suspicion over whether some officials may have conferred between aldermanic meetings on the issue of reducing the treatment plant staff to 24 or 26.

"On two different occasions, we had virtually unanimous council support to do this—134 votes ordering a 24-man staff. But on Aug. 18, the sentiment was nearly a complete reversal—11 votes to two for a 26-member staff," Decatur said.

English visitor finds things 'cheap'

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Michelle Williams from Burton-on-Trent in the British Midlands stands on the threshold of an exciting career as a fashion buyer.

But before she steps through the portal into a new lifestyle, the young woman is enjoying a two month holiday in the United States and "loves it here."

"Everything is much cheaper (inexpensive) here compared to what the same things cost in England," she commented last week.

Gasoline is almost $4 a gallon in Britain so, naturally, it seems to the young Englishwoman the cost of gas in the United States is very expensive.

Inflation has hit Britain pretty hard, she said, and the cost of all consumer items, including clothes, furniture, food and real estate, has increased substantially in the past few years.

Michelle finds a big difference in the "general attitude of the people here."

"People are a lot more casual here, more relaxed."

"After they finish work, they seem to go out more and to enjoy themselves more than they do at home. And, of course, there is more entertainment in general," she observed.

Michelle is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Grace) Withers of Granite City, who own and operate Withers Recreational Vehicles on Highway 162.

Mrs. Grace Withers is a cousin of Michelle's father, David Lewis Williams of Burton-on-Trent, but the cousins have never met.

Michelle, 22, was graduated recently from Huddersfield Polytechnical University and will start her new job as a buyer with Fenwick's, a retail firm with six departments stores, on Sept. 1.

Three of the stores are located in London, the others in Oxford, Newcastle and Windsor, Michelle said. She will work in London.

As part of her college education, Michelle spent six months in industrial training in France, learning the buying procedures there and perfecting her French.

She also was employed as a trainee buyer at Littlewood's Department Store in Liverpool, another external educational program of Huddersfield Polytech.

Littlewood's is one of the largest department store chains in the United Kingdom.

She's enjoying American television and noted that some of the shows, even TV quiz shows, are quite risqué compared to those on British television.

"I believe it's because the English are a lot more reserved, generally speaking," she commented.

At one point here on June 25, the newspaper's office was visited by an attractive young woman while here, Michelle blushed and commented, "This is being on the Johnny Carson Show."

She admitted, however, to having had "a few dates" during her visit. She arrived here on June 25, the newspaper's office was visited by an attractive young woman who traveled to several sections of the United States.

She has visited Colorado, where one of the Withers' three sons, Charles E. Withers, an attorney, lives in Montrose.

Michelle and her hosts also drove to Minneapolis, Minn., and stayed with Dennis Withers, another son, who is marketing manager for Granite City's Pabst Brewing Co.

During the Minnesota holiday, the British visitor and her hosts traveled further north and went into Canada on a fishing trip.

Yes, she caught quite a few Northern pike and was delighted with the experience, Michelle said.

REFRESHING VISITOR from Burton-on-Trent, England, is Michelle Williams, a recent graduate of Huddersfield Polytechnical University, who will start a new career as a fashion buyer in London upon returning home this week. She is the guest of a cousin, Mrs. Charles (Grace) Withers of Highway 162, at right.

In Granite City, Michelle has been spending quite a bit of time with the Withers' youngest son, Pat, and his family.

He operates the Pat Withers Mobile Homes Transporting firm on Rural Route One.

"Our grandchildren certainly are enjoying her," Mrs. Withers said, speaking of Michelle.

The young woman and her parents, David and Dorotha Williams, reside in Burton-on-Trent, a town of 140,000 population about 10 miles from Derby (pronounced Darby by Michelle).

Despite the population size, her home community is still called a town, rather than a city.

"I believe it's because we don't have a cathedral in Burton-on-Trent, which then would make it a city," she explained.

"The town is pretty famous for its beer," she added.

She has a sister, Mrs. John (Petra) Williams-Baker, whose American husband is from Long Island, N.Y.

John and Petra are graduates of Oxford University in England, where they met.

At present, they are living in Dublin, Ireland, where he is lecturing in philosophy at University College.

"The only areas in England which I believe may be superior to the same areas in America are health and education," Michelle said.

Britain has the National Health Service, which provides complete health care at no cost to the individual. The program is funded through general taxation.

In Britain, education grants are available to everyone meeting requirements to attend college, she said.

In order to get a grant and enter a university, a student must pass 'A' level examinations in at least two subjects at age 18.

Generally, people take three 'A' level subjects," she said.

Michelle says she would like to come back to the United States to live and work.

"It's rather difficult to get work and before you can come to America you must already have a job and a sponsor," she explained.

"I'd like to work if you or two in London so I'll gain experience and have more to offer if I can come back," she said.

Her interests focus on buying fashionable clothing, but she "wouldn't mind doing sportswear," a field which appears to be gaining in popularity.

"The fashion field will allow me to travel and attend the fashion shows and, hopefully, come to the New York shows," she said with enthusiasm.

"I think the chances of coming back to America are quite strong," she added.

Michelle mentioned having visited France a few times, in addition to her six-month training period there.

"But, I prefer America. I don't think the people there (France) are that friendly," she said.

"The fact I'm English has helped me to make friends here, I believe."

"People I meet say—'Let me hear your accent, or 'Speak to me. I usually don't know what to say back.'"

Another new experience for the young woman occurred last Monday night when she was among the 26,833 baseball fans attending the Cardinals 2-1 triumph over the San Diego Padres in the bottom of the 13th inning at Busch Stadium.

Her first baseball game was "very exciting," she said. The other 26,832 fans probably would concur.

Michelle's hostess and second cousin, Mrs. Withers, was born at Cardigan in Pontypridd, near Cardiff, in South Wales.

She and her parents came to Granite City from Wales when Grace was 9 years old.

She had lost touch with other family members in the British Isles, after one of her relatives died, until she wrote to a cousin, who provided the address of Michelle's father.

About three years ago they began corresponding on a regular basis.

"I am proud of being Welsh and of my roots there and have wanted to learn more. But I am very proud of being an American," Mrs. Withers stated.

County acts to implement auditor's recommendations

By EDGURNEY

The Madison County board has established a committee to help implement changes in county fiscal policies that were recommended by an auditing firm.

The board also asked officeholders to report by next month on what they're doing to implement the changes.

The board's action was in response to a review conducted by Price-Waterhouse & Co. The firm said the county is violating several state laws, doesn't have enough checks and balances on its employees and doesn't use its computer enough.

The firm also said the county lost revenues because it didn't make short-term investments with some of the $11.7 million in property tax collections it had on hand last Nov. 30.

A resolution approved last week by the board required an operations committee to oversee implementation of audit recommendations be composed of elected and appointed officials. The operations committee is to report to and work with the finance committee of the county board.

Bill Little of Alton, chairman of the finance committee, stated in a memo that Price-Waterhouse's proposal is the most extensive it has prepared in the three years the firm has audited the county.

Harold Straka of Price-Waterhouse said some of the recommendations have been made in prior years, too. Part of the problem is that there has been no specific effort to work on implementation, he said.

Straka said the most important point made in the report concerned needed controls over collections and disbursements of bill, fines and fees in the circuit clerk's office. The report stated the same "people" in Circuit Clerk Willard "Butch" Portell's office are receiving and disbursing funds.

Board member Jack Fransen of Alhambra successfully amended the resolution to require the clerk to report to the county board next month.

Fransen said the county board is getting "a black eye" by the newspaper's depiction of the clerk as the auditor's report. The county board actually has little control over officeholders after their budgets are approved.

He said Fransen said said budgets should be cut if officeholders don't comply with the recommendations.

Jerry Lewis telethon for MD to be shown Labor Day

KSDK's Cliff St. James and John Auble will co-host the "live" St. Louis segments in the big Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association, it has been announced.

The telethon will begin at 10:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 6, and extend continuously until 5:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 7, Labor Day, on Channel 5. St. James, host of Channel 5's "Midday AM," will be host at the Grand Court Mall of Northwest Plaza, Lindbergh at St. Charles Rock Road. Auble, best known as the co-host, with Dick Ford, of Channel 5's weekly "Newsbeat," will host the local segments at the Breckenridge Inn in Frontenac. The quarter-hour local segments will be presented at 15 minutes past each hour.

Lewis will host the 16th annual national star-studded show from Del Webb's Sahara Hotel, Las Vegas, with Ed McMahon again as anchorman. Celebrities participating in the telethon reads like a "Who's Who" of show business—Sammy Davis Jr., Johnny Cash, Tony Bennett, Wayne Newton, Pearl Bailey, Tony Orlando, Don Rickles, Ben Vereen, Crystal Gayle, Smokey Robinson, Rick Springfield, Bill Cosby, Sugar Ray Leonard, Larry Gatlin and many others.

This is the 8th consecutive year that KSD is the local outlet. It is one of more than 200 stations, including outlets in Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico and Guam, carrying the show. Last year's telethon raised more than $31 million of the MDA's international fight against muscular dystrophy and related disorders. Of this total, a record $748,000 was pledged in the St. Louis viewing area.

The establishment of pledge centers in many outstate areas, a new aspect of the telethon last year, will again be a feature, thus saving many viewers who wish to make pledges the cost of long distance calls. This year's 19 centers are located in Alton, Belleville, Washington Park, Edwardsville, Mount Vernon, Litchfield and Centralia, Ill., and Farmington, Sullivan, St. Charles, Troy, Franklin County and Crystal City, Mo. St. Louis' telethon chairman is John R. Wallace Jr., president of Cupples Products, Inc. Former Cardinal baseball star Stan Musial is the honorary chairman.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is spending over $1 million this year on its research and patient service programs here. The programs include the Jerry Lewis Neuromuscular Disease Research Center at Washington University Medical Center; individual research projects; free patient and diagnostic clinics; clinical fellowships, and free patient services including summer camps, physical therapy and orthopedic appliances.

Director Knight greets local '10-4' Explorers

Secret Service Director H. Stuart Knight welcomed Explorers from Post 10-4, sponsored by Madison Police Unit 110, at the National Law Enforcement Explorer Conference.

Knight and Assistant to the Director John W. Warner took time during the busy schedule to visit with Madison Police Officer William Weidner, post adviser, and Terry Toth, associate adviser to 10-4.

Explorer Post 10-4 became acquainted with Knight and Warner when the post visited Washington in 1976 and again in 1980.

The Post attended the 1979 conference headed by Knight.

The local group returned home during the weekend from the conference held at Ohio State University.

Knight praised the young people attending, calling them "a fine group of young Americans," and said that the well-trained law enforcement personnel needed to fight crime will come from groups like the Law Enforcement Explorers, such as Post 10-4 members.

Special emblems were given to outstanding participants who participated in each program segment during the week. All members of Post 10-4 earned the official silver and scarlet patch. The Explorers had to turn in a score card with 14 stickers on it from each training session.

The Columbus conference featured seminars and team competition conducted by the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms; the U. S. Secret Service; and more than 60 additional professional law enforcement and local police organizations.

The police-oriented competition included domestic crisis intervention, arrest, and search techniques, crime prevention, accident investigation, traffic stop and crime scene search.

Six United States "top cops" looked at the future of law enforcement and found it secure.

Speaking in a panel discussion at the conference they addressed the topic, "Law Enforcement in the Year 2000."

The panelists included FBI Director William H. Webster; San Diego Sheriff John Duffy; Maj. General Paul Timmerberg, commander of Army investigations; Dallas, Texas, Chief of Police Glen D. King, and Director Knight.

Moderator for the panel was Peter B. Bensinger, former DEA administrator, who also formerly was the head of the Illinois Department of Corrections.

FBI Director Webster emphasized that in spite of all technological advances to be expected in future years, such as blood printing, law enforcement will remain a personal venture.

"People commit crimes and people solve them," he said. But he added that crime and law enforcement are economic ventures as well, and "we will always be where the money is because that is where the criminals are. It is us against them."

Chief King said that young Law Enforcement Explorers will enter the field with more education and greater advantages than present officers. He reflected that only 20 years ago, few entered enforcement with more than a high school diploma.

King also noted that criminals have become increasingly sophisticated, and summed up that law enforcement will become a contest of proficiency.

Director Knight began his remarks by saying that "You folks are going to be better than we are."

He said that technological methods for crime detection presently available were unheard of when he entered the Secret Service 30 years ago, and suggested that by year 2000, a similar scientific advancement would change the face of law enforcement.

"I'm a good policeman," Knight said, "but you will be better because of your education and new technology."

San Diego Sheriff Duffy said that there is a cycle to law enforcement and it's funding, and that it is now starting another upswing.

Duffy said that women will take greater police roles in the future and that by year 2000, 30 percent of all officers will be women; and 30 percent of command staff will be women.

General Timmerberg said that Army crime statistics had traditionally paralleled those of the civilian population, but that it's crime rate was down 30 percent in the past five years.

Gen. Timmerberg noted that drug suppression was a major goal in his command. Explorer Post 10-4 begins its 13th year of consecutive operation in October.

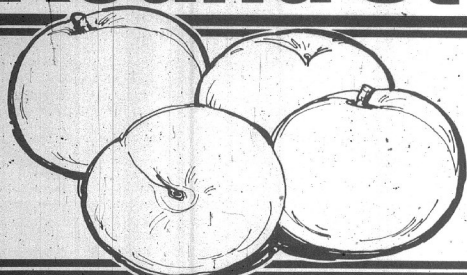

The post meets the second and fourth Wednesdays of every month at the Madison, police department. David Moonbegan is the post first vice-president and was the ranking Explorer attending the conference from "10-4."

Truck-rail steel shipping expands

Illinois Central Gulf Railroad's truck-rail-truck service for steel products is being extended to the Dallas area through a new interline agreement with the Southern Pacific Transportation Co.

"The agreement will connect rapidly growing industry in the Dallas area with the major steel mills of Illinois and Indiana," said Harry J. Bruce, ICG senior vice president of marketing.

Intended to be truck competitive on both pricing and delivery times, the TKT service was developed in 1976 to provide steel shippers with door-to-door service. Unlike conventional intermodal service, it not only picks up and delivers the products but also palletizes and shrink-wraps them for protection from the elements.

Operating now throughout the upper Midwest, the service will connect with the Southern Pacific line at East St. Louis for the run to Texas.

Shipping characteristics of steel coils, plates and bars created challenges. The weight required extra bracing and blocking. Steel also must be protected from the weather, and loads for more than one destination are often shipped on a single rail car.

ICG developed a pallet that provides bracing and utilizes plastic wrapping. Because the pallet is ventilated, potential damage from condensation is eliminated.

A truck picks up steel loads from a nearby rail yard. The steel is put on a pallet, permitting loads destined for four separate customers to be shipped on a single-bulkhead flatcar.

Once the railroad completes the long haul to the destination rail yard, the pallets are delivered by truck to the consignees. The protective wrap stays on until the freight is removed from the pallet.

There is a single bill of lading covering the complete move, pickup through delivery, and TKT traffic moves in top priority train service.

Goal is to combine the convenience of door-to-door delivery with efficiencies and cost savings of rail transportation, while saving diesel fuel and freeing highways of congestion.

Since March 1976, ICG has hauled 33,000 loads of steel products by truck-rail-truck. Last year, on one freight corridor alone, TKT carried the equivalent of 3,000 truckloads.

Great Blue Heron found dead gets spot in SIUE museum

A great blue heron, found dead on a church lawn in Collinsville, will get a new lease on life in the ornithology classroom museum in the biology department at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The majestic, four-foot water bird, named for its distinctive slate blue plumage, will be preserved in a scientific mount and used for classroom studies, according to Harold Broadbooks, SIUE biology professor who accepted the gift.

"It is such a beautiful bird, it should be somewhere where people can see it," said Joan Botkin, the Caseyville woman who discovered the heron. She found it with its long, pointed bill half buried in the grass of the First Methodist Church, just half a block from Main Street.

"All I could see was the grey and apricot (color) tinged on it," she said. Mrs. Botkin, who said she is always out doing something, took the bird home and began the search to identify it. A local taxidermist and a worn copy of a field guide book of birds proved to be the most help, she said. Broadbooks confirmed her choice of a great blue heron.

Mrs. Botkin also discovered the bird had one broken wing, a possible cause of its death. "It was broken severely, twisted backward almost in a complete circle," said Les Nico, an SIUE graduate student who examined the heron. He speculated the bird may have run into a power or telephone line and clipped the wing. The bird's wing span can reach five feet.

Because of its size, Nico said most people mistakenly think the bird is a crane. The difference is the blue heron flies with its neck tucked into an S-shape, he said. The crane flies with a straight neck.

Judging from the extra down around the tail feathers, Broadbooks said the bird was probably a young adult that strayed from a common feeding area around Horseshoe Lake or Pontoon Beach near Granite City. The birds typically live in communities and build stick nests high in the trees over water, feeding mainly on fish and frogs. Broadbooks said he has also visited some of the blue heron's local nesting sites on islands near Grafton.

Although the birds are relatively common, most people never see one until they go looking, Nico said. The great blue heron, along with other members of the egret family, is protected under the Federal Migratory Bird Treaty and may not be shot or taken for any reason without special permit, said Dave Harper, district wildlife biologist of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Nico said they are not on the endangered list but were once highly prized for the feathers, which were later used on hats. During the breeding season, the adult bird sports a distinctive crest feather that was also used commercially, Broadbooks said. The bird will be added to the University's natural history collection that included samples of the little blue heron, cattle egret, common egret, green heron, and black crowned night heron in the egret family.

Tax break for pensions

A little discussed provision in the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981, signed by President Reagan, is expected to be a boon to the thousands of employees now in qualified pension plans.

People covered by company retirement plans, starting Jan. 1, 1982, will be able to start deferred retirement savings account of up to $2,000 or up to $4,000 for a working married couple.

"We think it will be just as important as the All-Savers' Act in our future ability to attract savings," says Warren E. Buchert of Home Savings, Aurora, first vice president of the statewide Illinois Savings and Loan League.

"It appears to be a boon to the savings and loan business. It is our intention to pursue this vigorously," says George Brudy, Jr., president of the Illinois League and president of Fairfield Savings, Norridge. The new type of retirement accounts are expected to attract savings needed for home mortgages.

The IRA has previously reserved for persons not covered by a company pension plan. The new law is expected to double the number of persons eligible for the tax break. The previous contribution limit was $1,500 and taxes on the earnings were deferred until withdrawal after age 59½. IRAs are expected to gain importance as workers plan for their own retirement income to supplement Social Security. The accounts are expected to earn higher-than-passbook rates.

Creating an IRA at a savings and loan association is simple. An agreement is signed and savings deposited, either in a lump sum or installments before the income tax form is filed. The savings association will send the saver a form for use in filing their income tax return.

Savers should exercise caution in deciding how much money to invest for their retirement, however, Brudy says. If a saver decides to withdraw his savings before he turns 59½ or is disabled, the savings association may for premature withdrawal of certificate funds, charge a penalty.

In addition, the Internal Revenue Service would impose a penalty of 10 percent of the amount withdrawn. The money taken out of the account would have to be declared as income for that taxable year.

EVENING CLASSES

AT WASHINGTON U.

Registration for University College, the evening credit division at Washington University, will continue until Monday, Aug. 31. It is offering over 320 courses for the fall semester, ranging from data processing and economics to seminars in the liberal arts. Other courses include accounting, real estate law, English, as a second language, psychology and mathematics.

Transition courses for the returning adult student and tuition reduction for persons 65 and over are available.

Bill raises penalty for burglary

Governor James R. Thompson announced Friday he has signed legislation that raises the penalty for residential burglary.

"Anyone who has been the victim of a home burglary knows that terrible feeling of coming home and finding that your most valued possessions have been stolen. It is difficult to ever again feel secure in your home once this has happened," Thompson said.

"Burglars should think twice about burglarizing a home now, knowing they could go to prison for twice the length of time that the state law currently calls for."

Senate Bill 214 toughens the penalty from a Class 2 felony, which carries a three-year to seven-year prison term, to a Class 1 felony, which calls for four years to 15 years in prison. The crime also would be non-probationable. The legislation, which takes effect January 1, 1982, was sponsored by Senator John Davidson, Representative Irv Smith, both of Springfield.

Named assistant press secretary to governor

Governor James R. Thompson has announced the appointment of James R. Prescott as an assistant press secretary in the Governor's Office.

Jim Prescott has been involved in the intern program in the Governor's Office this summer and I am proud that he has chosen to continue in a full-time capacity in the administration," the Governor said.

Prescott, 22, of Oak Park, was graduated from Illinois State University, Normal.

last May with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Journalism and Communications.

While at ISU, he served as acting editor-in-chief of the Daily Vidette and also held positions as news editor, state editor, opinions council member, reporter and night editor.

He also anchored and reported daily on TV-10 News, a cable news program presented weekdays in the Bloomington-Normal area. He also served as news director and public service announcements director for WILN-Radio, ISU's campus radio station.

He also received awards for outstanding reporter and for best news story.

Most of replacement taxes for 1981 paid

Local units of government have received the sixth of eight payments in 1981 under the corporate personal property replacement tax, according to J. Thomas Johnson, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

Checks totaling $16.2 million were distributed to 5,973 local units of government. They bring total allocations for this year to $417.9 million.

Johnson said total 1981 payments should be about $510 million.

The 1,018 public school districts in the state have received the major portion of the money thus far — $2.2 percent, or $218.2 million.

Municipalities have received the least, about 1 percent, or $85.2 million.

Other local units receiving funds include counties, 8.7 percent; parks, 6.3 percent; sanitary districts, 3.8 percent; junior colleges, 3.8 percent and roads, 1.8 percent.

Housing authority revises policy

Under revised policies adopted by the Madison County Housing Authority, potential tenants in housing units will be urged to live in units where their race is in the minority.

The new policy was adopted in a meeting Thursday in an effort to satisfy federal officials in providing that new applicants for transfer be offered tenancy in units where their race is not predominant.

As an example, black applicants will be offered housing in predominantly white Northgate Homes in Collinsville and white applicants will be offered housing in predominantly black units in Madison, Venice and Alton.

The Housing and Urban Development Agency has threatened to end federal assistance to the authority because it has discriminated in allocating housing units.

The authority is seeking approval of HUD for the new policies.

ILLINOIS JOINS

Illinois was admitted to the Union as the 21st state on Dec. 3, 1818.

RULE RESCINDED

The House of Representatives on Dec. 3, 1844, rescinded its gag rule on antislavery petitions.

State says it is regaining favorable business climate

Governor James R. Thompson believes that efforts by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs to aid existing industry and attract new business to the state resulted in 800 new jobs and $25.2 million in capital investments during the second quarter of 1981.

Thompson said that from April through June, DCCA worked with six firms which will build or expand seven facilities at sites across the state.

"These plant locations indicate dramatically that the business community has regained faith in Illinois as a good place to do business. That faith is being translated into jobs for Illinois workers," the governor said.

A spokesman for one firm planning to create 100 to 150 jobs said that, after initially looking at the South and Southwest, his company determined Illinois offered the most advantages.

"Although Illinois has received publicity about an unfavorable business climate, quite a few changes have been made or are being made which are conducive to retaining or attracting industry," the spokesman said.

Thompson said one of the most important changes made in Illinois has been an attitude change — evident even in the handling of one of Illinois' thorniest business problems, reform of the unemployment insurance system.

"By sitting all the parties down," the governor said, "we were able to bring business and labor together to work out compromise legislation which will save Illinois business $480 million annually."

"This partnership or cooperation is the key to making Illinois competitive with the Sun Belt and our neighboring states."

Vetter Fairings, a Rantoul-based firm which manufactures shields to protect motorcyclists from the weather, closed its California plant and is expanding its Rantoul operation by more than 120 people. New employees will be trained through a state-funded job-training program.

Tony Starkey, personnel manager for Vetter, said the training program here was one of the prime factors in the decision to leave California.

"We had a good experience using a state program to train 25 employees when we brought out a new product earlier this year."

"In fact, we're so pleased with the kind of help we've gotten from the state, we're looking into getting training assistance so we can undertake a new manufacturing process," Starkey related.

"In addition to Illinois' assistance and incentive programs, the state has natural advantages that made it an industrial giant in the first place," Thompson said.

Those natural advantages, such as central location, were cited by two firms that announced decisions to build in Illinois during the second quarter of this year.

Mississippi Valley Airlines President Burt W. McLaughlin announced the firm's plans to move its corporate headquarters from La Crosse, Wis., to Moline in April. At that time, he said the central location in MVA's route system was a significant factor in the airline's decision to relocate.

He also cited "outstanding support from the community," including issuance of $2.5 million in industrial revenue bonds which made financing the project more favorable for the "small regional air carrier. DCCA is currently developing a job training program for the airline."

Color Tile, Inc., a Texas-based manufacturer, distributor and retailer of home improvement products, also cited Illinois' central location as a key factor in its decision to locate two new facilities in the Chicago area.

Charles Patrick, executive vice-president of manufacturing, distribution and transportation, said Illinois is ideal for the company's Midwest warehouse and distribution center, which will be situated at Park Forest South.

He said the availability of raw materials and the presence of skilled labor were determining factors in the company's decision to locate a manufacturing plant in West Chicago. Color Tile also is taking advantage of DCCA's industrial training program for both new facilities.

"The commitment of these firms to the new opportunities offered by Illinois are only a forerunner of economic growth to come," the governor predicted.

Brother, sister receive degrees

Miss Tami L. Jateff received a Bachelor of Arts degree and her brother, Bruce A. Jateff, received a Bachelor of Science and Technology degree and a Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration, at the same time, from Illinois State University, Normal.

Bruce commented he was not sure how his younger sister caught up with him, until he realized she was earning the extra credits going to summer school.

They are the children of Mrs. Ethel Jateff, 2171 Northland Drive, and the late Boris Barry Jateff.

Bruce graduated with a double major, emphasis in metals technology, industrial relations and production management.

Tami is currently completing an internship with the Madison County Art Council and was on the Dean's list for academic achievement in her senior year.

Her major study is graphic design.

All Savers Certificate

Your Key To Higher Earnings

With TAX FREE INTEREST

Why Give It To The I.R.S.?

The All Savers Certificate was recently authorized by Congress as part of the President's Tax Bill. It is effective October 1, 1981. Its main feature is that it provides:

TAX FREE INTEREST

Up to $1000 federal tax exempt earnings on an individual return and up to $2000 tax free on a joint return.

ALL SAVERS ACT CHART

Tax Bracket	10.0	10.5	11.0	11.5	12.0	12.5
	Taxable Equivalent Rate
20%	12.50	13.12	13.75	14.37	15.00	15.62
25%	13.33	14.00	14.66	15.33	16.00	16.66
30%	14.28	15.00	15.71	16.43	17.14	17.85
35%	15.38	16.15	16.92	17.69	18.46	19.23

50%	20.00	21.00	22.00	23.00	24.00	25.00

These examples from the adjoining All Savers Tax Chart indicate what tax free interest means to you. Assuming a 11 1/2% rate, a couple filing a joint return would receive the following taxable equivalent rate:

Tax Bracket	Interest Rate Required To Earn Rate Equal To Tax Exempt Rate
25%	15.33%
40%	19.16%
50%	23.00%

Rate will change monthly, but rate you receive at time you open your All Savers Certificate will be guaranteed for the full year.

The tax free rate will be 70% of the then current rate for 1 year U.S. Treasury Bills. Unlike Money Market Funds your rate is guaranteed for the full year. And unlike Money Market Funds, your money — up to $100,000 is insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

GUARANTEED RATE • FEDERALLY INSURED

If you have any time certificates or Money Markets maturing between now and October First — It will pay you to sign up now — And we'll pay you high interest — 16.5% in a repurchase agreement during the interim. Then on October First we'll transfer your funds to the Tax Free All Savers Certificate.

GREAT NEWS!

TAX FREE Interest Oct. 1 • 16.5% Interest til Oct. 1

Key health role for Dr. Lybarger

With Dr. Jeffrey A. Lybarger named the epidemic intelligence service officer for South Carolina by the state's Department of Health and Environmental Control, he will be South Carolina's disease detective for the national Center for Disease Control headquartered in Atlanta.

He will work with the DHEC staff in investigating outbreaks of diseases, and then help prevent their spread.

He also will aid DHEC's Bureau of Disease Control in the surveillance of diseases and the coordination of efforts of local agencies in gathering data and investigating and controlling epidemics and outbreaks.

A native of Granite City, Dr. Lybarger received his bachelor's degree in microbiology from Southern Illinois University in 1973. He received his doctor of medicine degree from the SIU School of Medicine in 1976.

Dr. Lybarger became a commissioned officer in the U.S. Public Health Service in July 1977.

Prior to joining the DHEC at Columbia, S.C., he received training at Cardinal Glennon Hospital in St. Louis and at the Kettering Institute for Environmental Health in Cincinnati. His specialty is occupational medicine.

Dr. Lybarger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Courtland W. Lybarger, live at 1025 Primrose Ave. in Granite City.

Dr. Lybarger graduated from Granite City High School (now South High) in 1969.

Eagle Park to get new fire truck Aug. 29

The Eagle Park Fire Protection District will take delivery of its new fire truck at 12 noon Saturday, Aug. 29, it was announced today by Ed Salmond, a district trustee.

Tower Fire Apparatus Co. of Freeburg, Ill., was awarded a purchase contract for the 1981 GMC truck on the low bid of $52,829.

The total amount, which will be paid with a Madison County Community Development grant, also includes the cost of outfitting equipment for six men, an electric hose drier and additional accessories.

Bids submitted by four firms were opened Aug. 14 by Venice Township Supervisor Christ Pasloff at the Venice Township Office and the Tower company was awarded the contract.

To celebrate the arrival of the fire engine to the new fire protection district, community leaders are planning a "food festival" at noon Saturday, Salmond announced.

County city and township officials have been invited to join Eagle Park residents and area friends at the event, scheduled to take place at the Eagle Park Improvement Association Hall, 100 Hill St.

"A parade, games and lots of good food will help to celebrate the occasion," Salmond said.

The Community Development grant was awarded jointly to the Eagle Park Fire Protection District and the Eagle Park Action Committee after volunteers, headed by Salmond, constructed a firehouse in which to keep the equipment.

VISITING ARTIST FROM KOREA, Chung Hyun Cho, decorates a bowl thrown during an advanced ceramics class at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Long Lake firemen host meet to discuss equipment procedure

Anyone driving up to the Long Lake Fire Station last week may have been met with more para-medics, EMTs and other professional emergency responders than they expected.

The occasion was an informal communication session between the officers of Granite City's Ambulance Service and members of Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department.

Twelve members of the ambulance service, including Chief Don Parente and three shift commanders, were the guests of Long Lake for breakfast and business. The purpose of the gathering was to better understand the operating procedures of each department while asking the people who help the public in times of emergency. Many times these agencies called upon to work closely together, sometimes in vital union in the confines of a speeding ambulance.

Discussions ranged from past experiences to future plans. When the subject of new equipment was brought up Long Lake's Assistant Chief of Rescue Dave Johnson produced one of the newest pieces of equipment in the rescue field. Called a Kendrick Extrication device, KEDs for short, the unit was recently donated to Long Lake by the Pontoon Beach Lions Club. Since the unit is one of the first in the area, and is used on anyone with a back injury, falls, car wrecks, etc., the proper operating procedures were explained, should Granite City wish to use it.

Also discussed was a disaster plan to be developed and implemented in the event of a major catastrophe in the area.

Twelve members of Long Lake and seven juniors hosted the event.

Both organizations left with a greater respect for the knowledge and education of the other.

History of 'artificial' blood

By PROF. F. HENRY FIRSCHING
SIUE School of Science & Technology

Medical patients have a need for a quick source of blood. The usual blood transfusions currently in use have a variety of difficulties, such as: getting people to donate blood, storing the blood, classifying it by blood type and then matching it with the recipient, or occasionally transferring disease in the donated blood, and refusing blood transfusions by religious groups. However, artificial blood gets by most of these difficulties.

About 20 years ago, the first developments in artificial blood took place. Fluorocarbon compounds were prepared and were found to dissolve gases very readily, including oxygen and carbon dioxide. These fluorocarbon compounds are similar to the common hydrocarbons that are present in gasoline, kerosene and motor oil.

The chief difference is that all the hydrogen atoms have been replaced with fluorine atoms. The only routine use of fluorocarbons is the slippery coating of teflon in frypans and baking pans. Teflon is a fluorocarbon and is inert to foodstuffs even at the high temperatures used in cooking and baking.

Liquid fluorocarbons are also inert and do not react chemically with any component of the living body. This chemical inertness and the ability to dissolve oxygen and carbon dioxide made fluorocarbons potentially useful as a substitute blood.

One of the chief functions of blood is to transport gases to and from the lungs. The hemoglobin of our blood carries the oxygen from our lungs to all the living cells of our body. The hemoglobin then transports the carbon dioxide from the cells back to the lungs. Fluorocarbons can substitute for blood in this critical exchange.

Some of the first experiments involved immersing rats in a fluorocarbon liquid that contained dissolved oxygen. The rats survived for indefinitely long periods of time, even though totally submerged in this oxygenated liquid. The next step was to replace all of the blood of laboratory rats with fluorocarbon liquid that contained an emulsifying agent. Remarkably, the rats were able to function normally. With the passage of time, the blood of the rats was slowly regenerated as the fluorocarbon liquid disappeared from their bodies in their breathing and waste products. The rats gradually returned to normal blood circulation with no apparent harmful effects. In fact, these rats were studied for their entire life span, which was considerably shorter than humans, and no difficulties were detected.

Monkeys were next on the agenda. About 80 percent of their blood was replaced with a fluorocarbon emulsion, with no harmful effects. The obvious next experimental subject was human beings. But in the USA this type of experiment is almost impossible to perform. However, in Japan the legal situation is quite different and over two hundred persons have already received artificial blood.

After the successful use of artificial blood in Japan, it became possible to administer it here in the USA for emergency cases. So far about 15 people, all Jehovah's Witnesses members, have received artificial blood transfusions. All 15 had refused human blood for religious reasons and no doubt would have died without the use of the blood substitute.

But before artificial blood can be put into widespread use, the long term effects must be determined. The material is so new that any conclusions about the long term effects are not possible. So far, the human applications have not produced any harmful effects.

There are a host of possible future applications for substitute blood. Donated body organs are maintained in excellent condition using oxygenated fluorocarbons and if used in this way would greatly increase the time between removal from the donor and implantation in the recipient. Artificial blood could aid carbon monoxide poisoning victims. Carbon monoxide adheres tenaciously to hemoglobin, effectively blocking the transport of oxygen and carbon dioxide. Placing the victim in an oxygen tent is not too effective. But artificial blood would quickly bring the needed oxygen to the critical areas.

In some medical situations, the blood vessels constrict so badly that even blood platelets cannot pass through small capillaries. Yet, the tiny droplets of fluorocarbon emulsion can pass readily through the constricted blood vessels thus limiting the damage caused by lack of oxygen. These last two applications makes use of the ability of liquid fluorocarbons to do something that normal blood cannot do. Artificial blood seems to have a promising future in combatting human health problems.

Belleville Area College biology students enjoyed an edible final examination during the final days of summer school.

May-apple jelly, sunflower brittle, dandelion greens and candied spearmint leaves were only a few of the delicacies prepared by students in Leo Welch's field biology and ecology class.

Six students were required to prepare a dish for the wild foods buffet, choosing ingredients from plants and animals studied during the eight-week course.

The remainder of the menu was filled out by fish, sassafras tea, violet jelly, a blueberry delight, prickly-pear-cactus fruit and candied burdock stems.

Of the last, one member of the class said:

"They were pithy but good."

The violet jelly was less to his liking. He described it as "disgusting."

The course is designed to teach students about the natural surroundings of Illinois and nearby states. Field trips were taken weekly to complement laboratory research and lectures.

The final trip was a three-day trek through parts of Illinois, Indiana and Michigan to Chicago and ecology from prairies to forests to dunes.

About a dozen students from throughout BAC District 522 participated in the class.

Welch will conduct a seminar in field ecology during the first eight weeks of the fall semester. The course, biology 29, will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 12:10 p.m. Saturdays beginning Aug. 29. The two-hour, college-credit course has a $10 fee in addition to tuition of $34 ($17 per credit hour).

The course will feature field trips to natural sites in this region.

YOUTH ORCHESTRA

1981-82 AUDITIONS

Auditions will be held on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 11 and 12, at Powell Symphony Hall, Grand and Delmar, for positions in all sections of the 110-member St. Louis Symphony Youth Orchestra for the 1981-82 season.

All metropolitan area students aged 12 to 21 who participate in their school music programs are eligible to enter the orchestra auditions. Applications may be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Edith Hogland, 7150 Wise Ave., St. Louis 63117. Time schedules will be mailed to all applicants one week prior to the auditions.

Masonic affiliates installed at state

Eleven DeMolays, four advisors and three Mother's Club members from James Stuart Chapter attended the four day Illinois DeMolay convalesce on the campus of Western Illinois University, at Macomb, during the weekend. They were housed in the 20-story Higgins Hall dormitory with meetings, and the grand banquet and grand breakfast also attended the convalesce.

During the sessions Neal A. Mize was installed as 1982 Conclave Coordinator for Hospitality, Jimmy K. Stuart as a State Representative and Mrs. Mary K. Stuart as State Chaplain for Illinois State Council of DeMolay Mothers at the state master councilor's breakfast Sunday morning.

Throughout the business sessions the local chapter received the following trophies: First place for most money raised for Masonic Charities; second place for state track and field competition; second place for leadership correspondence course completions; a "200 percent membership goal" plaque for 1980 and a 100 percent ribbon for leadership correspondence.

Robert E. Hebblethwaite Jr., the chapter's junior executive, led the James Stuart Chapter's delegation with Neal A. Mize, Donald E. Payton, Jimmy E. Stuart and Fred D. Trebing also serving as delegates. Other chapter members attending were: Mark S. Bowles, John Kamadulski, Ralph F. McKinney Jr., Antonio Narvaez, Terry Perrin and Gerald L. Singleton Jr.; Advisors, Ellis N. Harnsey Jr., Charles A. Meyer, E. Gene Ross and Jimmy E. Stuart.

Miss Gena Fox, chairman of Grand Representatives of the State of Illinois International Order of Job's Daughters and a past honored queen of Bethel 43, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Beth Fox, was also an honored guest. Gena addressed the convalesce Saturday night at the state master councilor's banquet representing Susan Wright, grand Bethel honored queen of the State of Illinois, who was in supreme session in Hawaii.
